

NEW TREATY GIVES CONTROL OF YAP TO JAPAN, WITH CABLE AND RADIO PRIVILEGES TO U. S.

New Committee to Rush Decision on Navy Ratio

'COMMITTEE OF 15' TO DRAFT TREATY ON CUT IN NAVIES

At Suggestion of American Group, Former Body of Naval Experts, Is "Scrapped."

NEW PLAN TO OBTAIN DELAYS IN DISCUSSION

Tokio Sends Instructions on "5-5-3 Ratio"—Acceptance of Plan Is Believed Near.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, December 12.—New machinery to expedite final action on naval limitation agreements was set up today by the arms conference. At the suggestion of the American group, the former committee of experts was "scrapped" in favor of a "committee of fifteen," including both plenipotentiaries and civil and naval experts of the five powers. The whole subject of naval limitations, including the cornerstone "5-5-3" ratio, was turned over to the new committee to be put in final shape for the conference.

Meanwhile, it became known that the Japanese delegation had received instructions from Tokyo regarding the "5-5-3" ratio. The nature of the communication was not disclosed. There were many indications, however, that it marked a long stride toward final acceptance of this vital point in the naval limitation project. "The committee of fifteen" was described by a British spokesman as a means to "short circuit" delays unavoidable in the previous division of labor between committee or delegates and separate committees of naval experts. The new committee will be able to reach decisions as to direct recommendation of its creation was given.

To Draft Treaty.
There were indications, however, that the new step was based upon an informal communication from the Japanese delegation that Japan stood ready to accept the "5-5-3" ratio subject to certain modifications in detail of the American proposal. It appeared likely that it would become the business of the "committee of fifteen" to put into treaty form for signature by all five powers the definite agreement based on the "5-5-3" proposal but carried out in detail. If this proves to be the case, the new committee will seek a solution of each phase of the naval reduction and limitation plan as it arises, framing its conclusions into sections of the proposed treaty.

The new step throws into prominence for the first time in the conference the question of the French and Italian place in the naval ratio. That must be worked out by the "committee of fifteen." Spokesmen for Italy said she was willing to stop where she is in naval strength, provided she was allowed equality with France in ratio. The attitude of the French group in this point was not disclosed and British spokesmen indicated that Great Britain must consider the place of the French and Italian navies as following in general the "5-5-3" ratio agreement between the other three powers.

Another point was particularly

TO MAKE REPORT ON AGRICULTURAL NEEDS THIS WEEK

Congress Commission Will Report Results of Investigation Into Legislative Needs of Farmers.

TO INTRODUCE BILLS ACCORDING TO REPORT

Farmers' Union Is Also at Work on Proposed Bill to Aid Farmers in Financing.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON.
Constitution Bureau,
Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, December 12.—(By Constitution Bureau Wire.)—The joint congressional commission appointed last spring to inquire into the legislative needs of agriculture as a unit, will make its report this week and, while the recommendations are not yet released, it is known that legislation for co-operative marketing, provision by congress for agricultural attaches in the principal foreign countries, and more adequate wholesale terminal facilities will be the three outstanding legislative proposals. Bills to enact these recommendations into laws will be introduced at once. It is understood that the report will also deal with the agricultural crisis and its causes, and will be followed by specific suggestions in relation to credit, transportation and distribution and marketing. The recommendations which the commission will make will contemplate, in addition to legislation within the jurisdiction of congress, action by state authorities and local and private interests.

Represented in the complete report of the commission will be the labor of 200 committees and 3,000 co-operatives, as well as the work involved in answering approximately 10,000,000 separate questions set forth in 25,000 questionnaires.

Many Witnesses.
More than 100 witnesses appeared at hearings which were held in July and August, and a great deal of information was secured this way, but, in the main, the purpose of holding hearings was to establish the background for the statistical data upon which the conclusions of the commission primarily rest.

LARGE INCREASE IN FINAL ESTIMATE OF STATE'S COTTON

120,000 More Bales Are Shown in Bureau Figures of 840,000 for Georgia's Season.

IS SMALLEST CROP IN FORTY YEARS

Comprehensive Review of Year Shows Many Difficulties in Cultivation Experienced by Farmers.

BY MARION KENDRICK.
Georgia's 1921 cotton crop amounts to 840,000 bales of 500 pounds gross, 120,000 more bales than the last previous official figures, according to the final estimate of total production for the year issued Monday afternoon by the United States bureau of markets and crop estimates in releasing its review of the season.

The report of the Georgia bureau was made public shortly after the department of agriculture in Washington had announced its final estimate of cotton production as 8,340,000 bales, which is 1,800,000 more than given in the preliminary estimate of October. Both the department of agriculture and its bureau here attributed the low estimates earlier in the season to "persistent and widespread propaganda at planting time" as to acreage and returns given by farmers.

In its discussion of the cotton season, the bureau report called attention to the fact that the Georgia crop had an estimated total value, based on December 1 farm price, of $77,270,000 lint and seed. The value of the lint is placed at $65,503,000, and the seed at $11,767,000.

Futures Decline.
Seed production is estimated at 378,000 net tons, while the average yield of lint cotton per acre is fixed at 97 pounds. The total cotton production in this state in 1920 was 1,415,129 bales, and the five-year average (1915-1919), 1,879,001.

The government figures took both the New York and New Orleans markets by surprise. In New York, cotton broke $5.85 a bale from the morning's high level. New Orleans recorded a drop of $5.50 per bale. "The late winter months were almost ideal for field work," reads the report of the Georgia bureau, "and the land was splendidly prepared. But cold, dry weather set in in April and stayed through early May, hindering planting, germination and growth. Continuous cold weather killed outright much of the young cotton. In some counties over 50 per cent of the crop had to be replanted. Not a few farmers planted as many as three times. Some of the fields abandoned were later planted to other crops. At the close of May condition was second lowest in fifteen years. Hundreds of fields had not been put to a stand. The crop got off badly, and ten days

Year-Round Cheer Planned By Associated Charities For Ten Neediest Families

BY FUZZY WOODRUFF.
Once each year the Associated Charities of Atlanta comes to the city with hands extended—asking.

The rest of the year the Associated Charities goes to Atlanta with hands extended—giving.

And this time when the Associated Charities asks, it only asks that it may be permitted to give and with the gifts the Chrities bring hope to the hopeless, help to the helpless, solace to those that know pain and want and trial. The Charities have for years made this appeal at Christmas time. Then the spirit of giving is abroad. It is the season when the hearts of all who have hearts beat for the poor and children, the two classes who must be aided in the struggle for life. It is the season when the spirit of the Child so poor that He was cradled in a manger is abroad. It's the season when self becomes second consideration, when individuals realize the claims of others.

PROVIDES CHRISTMAS ALL YEAR ROUND.
This isn't essentially a Christmas charity. It is not a giving that guarantees a household a bountiful meal and a cheery fire at Yuletide and then lets starvation stalk and cold benumb for the rest of the year. This charity carries with it a happy Christmas and it carries with it a chance for a measure of happiness and a measure of hope throughout the year.

That's its appeal. It's big and generous and heartening—and it's constructive. During each year the Associated Charities are called on to take their ministrations into literally hundreds of homes. Some of these homes need temporary relief. They have been forced to ask for charity because of some sudden illness, some unlooked-for catastrophe. This condition remedied or cured, the household has a chance to begin life's battle anew—and has a chance to succeed. There is another class though. There are homes in Atlanta from which hope has fled in horror, homes in which starvation, disease, ignorance and pain unite in all their hideousness to close the door of the household on everything and everybody save suffering and death. These homes, perhaps, have been brought to this through no fault of those that suffer. Often, the people have fought and struggled and saved and scrimped to the last extremity before appealing for aid. Into such homes, the Associated Charities strives not only to bring temporary comfort but permanent hope. This cannot be done in a day. Plans are made by which time is given an opportunity to heal and knowledge to empower.

TEN NEEDIEST FAMILIES SELECTED.
So each year the field representatives of the Associated Charities decide on the ten families in Atlanta most deserving of systematic aid and make them the beneficiaries of this Christmas appeal, and through The Atlanta Constitution appeals to the good people of Atlanta to make this giving possible. For each one of these families the Charities has already mapped out a program. That program carries with it freedom from want and worry, opportunity to build up for self-sustenance.

Ten families were aided last year through the munificence of citizens of Atlanta. This Christmas those families are happy. They are on the road to a new success. The Charities call these ten families "Atlanta's Ten Opportunities."

They are the biggest of opportunities for Christmas happiness for those who receive. They are bigger than the biggest for those who give. Send your contributions now to The Associated Charities.

Fingers to Tell Defendant Story Of Murder Trial

Most of Proceedings Will Be in the Deaf Mute Language.

James Dunnahoo, deaf-mute and epileptic, went on trial for his life yesterday afternoon when a jury was empaneled by the superior court of DeKalb county to decide whether or not he was insane when he shot down his uncle, J. M. Hunt, who was likewise without the powers of speech and hearing.

A strange scene was enacted as Judge J. B. Hutcheson swore in the jury. The constitution of Georgia provides that every man accused of crime must know every phase of his trial. Accordingly, W. F. Crusselle, of Atlanta, was sworn in and seated next to the defendant to give him a fingered narrative of the events. "The examination of each witness was so recounted to Dunnahoo, who evidently took a keen interest in the proceedings and through Mr. Crusselle communicated his wishes to his attorney.

The jury sworn in, court was adjourned until 8 o'clock Tuesday when the trial will be resumed.

Most of the proceedings will be in the deaf-mute language, many of the witnesses being mutes. They will be questioned and their answers translated by Mrs. M. M. Simmons, of Atlanta. Facts in the case are largely undisputed. Hunt was killed as he was milking a cow. Dunnahoo does not deny the shooting. His plea is that he is insane.

BITTER ATTACK ON MAYOR KEY MADE BY SIMS

Councilman Assails Mayor or After Key Announces He Will Displace Him on School Board.

"TRYING TO PLAY BOTH ENDS AGAINST MIDDLE"

Asserts Mayor Was Bent on Siding With Crooks and Grafters in Recent Bunco Investigation.

His refusal to become a "tool" of Mayor Key and his failure as chairman of the recent bunco probe committee to conduct the investigation in accord with the mayor's wishes, whom he said, "I soon discovered was bent on siding with incompetency, crooks and grafters," were given yesterday afternoon in a statement by Councilman Walter A. Sims as among the reasons for Mayor Key's announcement Monday that he will displace him next year as ex-officio member of the board of education for another appointee "more level-headed."

He also reiterated a charge that the mayor "is trying to play both ends to the middle on the Catholic question and others," stating that "just before the last election of teachers, Mr. Key, in the presence of another member of the school board, stated that he would vote against every Catholic teacher, but when the time came to vote about an hour later, his spine gave away again and he couldn't stand the pressure."

Councilman Sims said that one of the mayor's conspicuous accomplishments during his administration has been to spend $45,000 to erect a public comfort station in front of city hall as a "monument" to himself. "The only things lacking is the mayor's picture and name," he added.

Open Break Comes.
An open break between Mayor Key and Councilman Sims came about a month ago, when, after the mayor had vetoed an ordinance introduced by the councilman and passed by council, barring whites and negroes from attending the same place of worship, the councilman stated that Mayor Key had instigated the measure and charged that he showed himself to be a "spineless ass" by vetoing it.

Mr. Key would not state definitely whom he would name as Mr. Sims' successor, but strongly intimated that he would appoint Councilman J. C. Murphy, who is now chairman of the tax committee.

Mr. Murphy is a young attorney. He was principal in the public schools of Hall county for several years and takes a deep interest in educational matters.

Playing Both Ends.
"I am not surprised at Mayor Key proposing to displace me on the board of education," stated Councilman

BY JOHN GLEISSNER,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, December 12.—The proposed four-power Pacific alliance is a war-breeder, unless there is "real disarmament," in the opinion of Senator Borah, of Idaho.

And "real disarmament" has not been attempted by anything the arms conference has thus far done, Borah holds. The Idaho senator attacked the treaty from the floor of the senate Monday, and served notice on that body he would oppose its ratification, unless disarmament went further than in now contemplated. Capital ships, he argued, are not a proper basis for armament reduction, because they are obsolete, and the new weapons of warfare—submarines and aircraft—are left unrestricted. Further, he declared, the powers are left with huge armies and navies.

Leagues or alliances of nations, Borah contended, become military alliances when the nations maintain heavy armaments.

U. S.-JAPAN PACT ON STATUS OF YAP FINALLY REACHED

Japanese Mandate From League of Nations for Ex-German Islands Recognized by U. S.

CERTAIN CONDITIONS STIPULATED, HOWEVER

Fortifications on Island Are Forbidden—Early Signatures Are Expected to Agreement.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, December 12.—The American and Japanese governments have composed their differences over the Pacific island of Yap, and are preparing to sign a treaty by which Japan retains administrative control over the island and the United States secures the cable and wireless privileges there for which she has contended since the Paris peace conference.

In the same treaty, Japan's league of nations mandate over Yap and all the other northern Pacific islands formerly under German sovereignty is given recognition by the United States on certain stipulated conditions. These conditions include provision for free admission of missionaries and protection of American interests in the mandated territory, and require that Japan shall report to the United States as well as to the league on details of her administration of the mandate.

Cable Rights Equal.

The Yap cable and wireless rights, regarded as highly important because of the island's advantageous position in the center of the Pacific group to the south of Japan, are accorded by the treaty to the American and Japanese governments and nationals alike, on terms of absolute equality. In the exercise of these rights American nationals are to be free from taxes, licensing, censorship and every form of discriminatory supervision, and in addition are to be aided by the Japanese government in securing needed property and facilities.

The immediate value of the arrangement to the United States lies in the concessions with regard to cable communication, because they insure complete American control of the existing cable between Yap and Guam. Considerable importance also is attached by American officials to the radio privileges, although it is to be agreed in the treaty that no American radio station will be installed so long as the present Japanese plant is operated without discriminatory exactions.

Early Signing Expected.
Signature of the convention is expected within a few days, erasing one of the principal causes for controversy between Washington and Tokio and bringing to an end negotiations which have covered a period of several months. The agreement was announced today to the committee of the whole of the arms conference and its terms later were made public by the state department.

The American request for a communications base in Yap first was laid before the powers at Paris, and the Wilson administration later made a vigorous protest when the league awarded a mandate over the island to Japan without recognizing the claims of the American government. The league referred the question to Japan and the United States for settlement by direct negotiation, and the American government, standing on its rights as one of the principal allied and associated powers to which Germany renounced her overseas possessions, carried her case to Tokyo.

Long Discussions.
After an inconclusive dispute as to promised declared to have been made informally to the American delegates at the Paris conference, the negotiations lapsed into a long succession of proposals and counter proposals for compromise. At first the Japanese government sought to invoke a Japanese law prohibiting the landing of foreign cables on Japanese soil, but that objection was withdrawn when the United States insisted that Yap was not a possession of the Tokyo government but only was under its trusteeship.

Final instructions to the Japanese delegates to accept the latest American proposal for a settlement are understood to have been received from the Tokyo foreign office last night. The treaty is virtually in final form, but no date for its signature has been fixed. The following statement of the "points of agreement" it is to include was issued by the state department:

Points in Agreement.

1. It is agreed that the United States shall have free access to the island of Yap on the footing of entire equality with Japan or any other nation, in all that relates to the landing and operation of the existing Yap-Guam cable or of any other cable which may hereafter be laid by the United States or its nationals.

2. It is also agreed that the United States and its nationals are to be accorded the same rights and privileges with respect to radio telegraphic service as to regard to cables. It is provided that so long as the Japanese government shall maintain on the island of Yap an adequate radio station, co-operating with the cables and with other radio stations on ships and shores, without discriminatory exactions or preferences, the exercise of the right to establish radio telegraphic stations at Yap by the United States or its nationals shall be suspended.

3. It is further agreed that the United States shall enjoy in the island of Yap the following rights, privileges and exemptions in relation to electrical communications:

Rights of United States.

(a) Rights of residence without inspection; and rights of acquisition and enjoyment and undisturbed possession, upon a footing of entire equality with Japan or any other nation or their respective nationals of all property and interests, both personal and real, including lands, buildings, residences, offices, works and appurtenances.

(b) No permit or license to be required for the enjoyment of any of the rights and privileges.

(c) Each country to be free to operate both ends of its cables either directly or through its nationals, including corporations or associations.

(d) No cable censorship or supervision of operation or messages.

(e) Free entry and exit for persons and property.

(f) No taxes, port, harbor or landing charges or exactions, either with respect to operation of cables or to persons, property or vessels.

(g) No discriminatory police regulations.

To Supply Lands.

4. Japan agrees that it will use its power of expropriation to secure to the United States needed property and facilities for the purpose of electrical communication in the island, if such property or facilities can not otherwise be obtained. It is understood that the location and area of land to be so expropriated shall be arranged each time between the two governments, according to the requirements of each case. American property and facilities for the purpose of electrical communication in the island are to be exempt from the process of expropriation.

5. The United States consents to the administration by Japan of the mandated islands in all Pacific Ocean north of the equator subject to the above provisions with respect to the island of Yap, and also subject to the following conditions:

(a) The United States is to have the benefit of the engagements of Japan set forth in the mandate, particularly those as follows:

No Slavery Allowed.

"Article 3: The mandatory shall see that the slave trade is prohibited and that no forced labor is permitted except for essential public work and services, and that only for adequate remuneration."

"The mandatory shall also see that the traffic in arms and ammunition is controlled in accordance with principles analogous to those laid down in the convention relating to the control of the arms traffic, signed on September 10, 1919, or in any convention amending same."

"The supply of intoxicating spirits and beverages to the natives shall be prohibited."

"Article 4: The military training of the natives, otherwise than for purposes of internal police and the local defense of the territory, shall be prohibited. Furthermore, no military or naval bases shall be established or fortifications erected in the territory."

Religion.

(b) With respect to missionaries, it is agreed that Japan shall ensure complete freedom of conscience and the free exercise of all forms of worship, which are consonant with public order and morality and that missionaries of all such religions shall be free to enter the territory and to travel and reside therein, to acquire

Federal Reserve Shows Condition European Budgets

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON.

Washington, December 12.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—The statement of the federal reserve board today showing how militarism or expenditure for national defense is the first and greatest cause of foreign countries, is regarded as extremely significant because of other hints put out from Washington for the benefit of Europe.

While Great Britain and the United States have sought to balance their budgets, the federal reserve board states that France faces a budget deficit this year of 19,000,000,000 francs, and this in view of the fact that the total public debt of France rose in the first half of 1921 from 245,000,000,000 francs to 264,000,000,000 francs.

Italy, although it has made some progress and instituted some rather drastic financial reforms, contemplates a budget deficit this year of 5,000,000,000 lire, the board states. And in Germany where the budget deficit in the first six months amounted to 44,000,000,000 marks, it is stated that the total deficit for the year may equal 110,000,000,000 marks.

Harding Suggestions.

This statement follows upon the pointed suggestion from President Harding that Europe must make some attempt to cure her own ills, and the statement from Herbert Hoover that states in eastern and southeastern Europe must seek a "balance in taxation and expenditure."

It is not difficult to understand also that the statement might be made for the benefit of Americans, who are carrying on the propaganda for cancellation of war debts.

Detailed statistics, given by the board, show that expenditures by France had jumped from 3,000,000,000 francs in 1905 to 32,000,000,000 francs in 1920, and more than 50 per cent of the total expenditure in 1920 was for purposes of national defense. The revenue in France in 1920 was only 17,700,000,000 francs.

Tremendous Gain.

In Italy, expenditures jumped from 1,700,000,000 lire in 1905 to 32,000,000,000 lire in 1919, and 83 per cent of the total expenditure in 1919 was for purposes of national defense. And Italy had a total revenue of only 9,370,000,000 lire in 1919.

In Germany the expenditure increased from 1,300,000,000 marks in 1905 to 61,470,000,000 marks in 1920, and 60 per cent of the total expenditure was for purposes of national defense. Germany had a total revenue in 1920 of only 14,470,000,000 marks.

Large Proportion.

"While the proportion of total expenditures devoted to military purposes is, according to fiscal returns, smaller in some countries at present than before the war," the board states, "these expenditures undoubtedly constitute a larger proportion of the diminished national incomes and are, therefore, a more crushing load on the financially weakened countries of Europe."

The statement of the board is made in response to the many suggestions from Europe as to the creation of financial machinery to stimulate and permit foreign trade. The board does not deny that some of the proposals are worthy of consideration and that some good might be accomplished by them, but it is insisted that they are not financial panaceas and that the fundamental ills must be relieved before recovery can be expected.

H. CLAY EVANS DIES IN CHATTANOOGA WHILE HE SLEEPS

Chattanooga, Tenn., December 12.—

Hon. H. Clay Evans, former consul general to England, first assistant postmaster-general, United States commissioner of pensions and member of congress, was found dead in his bed this morning. His death is supposed to have been due to heart trouble. He seemed to be in perfect health when he retired last night.

Mr. Evans was one of the oldest residents of Chattanooga. He came here in 1864, after six months' service in the United States army, to accept a clerkship in the big military depot located here. He later went to the Mexican border as clerk to an army officer, and assisted in rebuilding the army post at Brownsville. He returned here in 1870 and entered the manufacturing business and was active in politics and civic affairs. He was elected to the fifty-first congress in 1889-91. He was appointed first assistant postmaster-general in 1893, and was elected governor of Tennessee on the face of the returns in 1894, but a recount resulted in his defeat. He was a delegate-at-large to the republican convention in 1902 and 1916, and was second in balloting for vice president in 1904. He was United States commissioner of pensions in 1907-1908; was consul general at London in 1902-05. Mr. Evans was a candidate for United States senator in 1919, against John K. Shields. Mr. Evans was a native of Juanita, Pa. He is survived by his widow and two daughters, one the wife of David Foote Sellers, United States navy, and the other the wife of Dr. J. W. Johnson, of Chattanooga.

FORD'S PROPOSAL OKAYED BY EDISON

"Wizard" Says Manufacturer Would Make Muscle Shoals Project 'Hum' and Realize Profit.

Orange, N. J., December 12.—Thomas A. Edison, who recently accompanied Henry Ford on an inspection trip to the government's water-power development at Muscle Shoals, Ala., today declared the automobile manufacturer could "make the Muscle Shoals project hum, not only getting his rental, but a good profit for the people."

"Fertilizer, which he would manufacture, is in great demand in the south," said the inventor. "In northern Alabama I saw cotton fields with short, stubby plants, stunted for the lack of fertilizer. What the people need is a cheap fertilizer. The price is too high now. The crop would be doubled and employment given to about a million people, if the Ford project at Muscle Shoals went through."

"One part of the plant is practically ready for operation, except for the completion of the dam, which Ford wants the government to build before he leaves the property. The government says the dam would cost $45,000."

000. Ford estimates the cost at $30,000,000. I think Ford's figure is about right.

"Ford will guarantee to take a profit of only 8 per cent in operating the plant. Who else would want to do it for that? If the profit exceeded 8 per cent, the price of fertilizer would be reduced."

Mr. Edison emphasized that his connection with the plant was advisory.

"Ford has a bright mechanical mind," he said, "but is weak in chemistry, and that's where I came in."

MUST FINISH WORK TO PROVE SINCERE

BY WICKHAM STEED,
Editor of London Times.

(Copyright, 1921, for The Constitution.)

Washington, December 21.—The American public has now had 48 hours in which to review Saturday's proceedings and to reflect upon their meaning. In no quarter is serious opposition offered or effective criticism advanced. Yet, it is obvious that American opinion, as a whole, will scarcely accept the grandeur of Saturday's achievement as a lasting pledge of a new era in international relations, until the co-ordination of the quadruple treaty with the other achievements of the conference that are still outstanding, has been made plain even to the simplest minds.

In a country so vast as the United States, with so strongly accentuated centers of population, separated from each by broad intervals barely peopled, any idea that is to command the adhesion of the whole nation must be susceptible of expression in terms so clear and so lofty as to preclude misinterpretation and to be visible everywhere. The American people have a deep dislike of entangling international alliances.

Fight Against League.

For some years an intense campaign against the hypothetical implications of the covenant of the league of nations has increased their reluctance to join in agreeing to uphold anything outside the United States and its possessions, or not demonstrably lying within the scope of the Monroe doctrine. Americans have, moreover, felt suspicious about the Anglo-Japanese alliance, besides viewing with troubled disapproval the course of events in Ireland and the frequent ebullitions of ill temper between England and France. They hoped, indeed, that the Washington conference would satisfy their idealism and, incidentally, relieve the strain on their pockets, by bringing about a real limitation of armaments, but they had little knowledge of the matters contingent upon such limitation, save in so far as they had been taught that the restoration of Shantung to China would be the test of the success or failure of American efforts to improve the position in the Far East.

Therefore, it is natural that the first rejoicings over Saturday's achievement should give place to a mood, not exactly critical, but compounded of wonder and expectancy. It is important that this expectancy should not long endure, and that a settlement of the naval ratio and the formulation of a general agreement on China should swiftly complete the tale of the doings at Washington, and thus convey to the nation an integral impression of harmonious and co-ordinated achievement under sagacious American leadership.

Irish Influence.

It is important, too, that European governments should understand the immediate repercussions of their deeds and omissions upon sensitive American minds. The announcement of the Irish settlement last week completely overshadowed for a moment the proceedings of the conference, which it undoubtedly influenced, and influenced for good. Despite familiarity with Irish and pro-Irish agitation, the American people are not conversant with the real data of the Irish problem. Hence the growth of acute apprehension lest opposition in the Dublin parliament should upset the settlement, and the general feeling that the well known professional Irish reconcilers of this country, who do not relish the prospect of impending unemployment, efforts to hasten the work of the Washington conference, and to represent its success as yet another triumph for cunning British statesmanship over the guileless idealism of the American people, undoubtedly be made, just as any evidence of friction between England and France will be used as proof that selfish jealousy is now, as ever, the mainspring of British policy.

No faithful picture of the situation can leave these features unportrayed; but a truth which delegates to the conference and their governments should remember is that the situation here remains dynamic, and can only be brought to permanent stability by a continuation of the process of rapid accomplishment that has hitherto enabled the conference to outdistance the malevolent.

Flagging Unlikely.

Fortunately there is no likelihood of any flagging. A rumor that some of the Japanese delegates were dissatisfied with the progress of the conference, and that they were considering a withdrawal, is entirely unfounded. The Japanese delegates have agreed to furnish data on improvements and the financial condition of the road and one of the many phases of the problem to be discussed was declared to be whether earnings, if any, would be deducted from what China would pay if her offer were accepted.

Spheres of Influence.

Earlier in the day, the Far Eastern committee of the conference proper, after agreeing to a resolution providing for the withdrawal of foreign post-offices on the tentative terms outlined two weeks ago, took up the question of "spheres of influence," and reopened the negotiations settlement made last week to consider a proposal by France. The nature of this was not disclosed pending further discussion, which went over until Wednesday.

After a statement on spheres of influence made by Dr. Wang, of China, asking the powers to disavow all their claims to such spheres, the committee requested China to give a list of the spheres of influence she desired abolished. This the Chinese delegates agreed to do.

AMERICAN SCHOONER FREED BY MEXICO

San Pedro, Cal., December 12.—The fishing boat Mabel, of American registry, which has been in Mexican detention for the past week, arrived here today with all her crew from Ensenada, after payment, under protest, of a fine to the Mexican government for alleged fishing without license in Mexican waters.

Discuss Payment If Japs Restore Railway to China

Washington, December 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Determination of the value of the Kiachow railway in Shantung, with a view to compensating Japan in case she agreed to restore to China complete control of the road, was taken up by the delegates of the two nations today at the resumption of their conversations on the leasehold while the withdrawal of foreign post-offices from Chinese soil by January 1, 1923, was authorized at another meeting by the Far Eastern committee.

These were the principal developments of today's efforts of the Washington conference to solve the Chinese problem confronting the powers and were considered as bringing nearer a final settlement which would be acceptable to China.

The Chinese were said to regard as highly significant Japan's willingness to discuss at length the question of the financial basis on which the Kiachow railway might be restored to complete Chinese ownership. China today made a financial offer, described by one of the Chinese delegates as "very liberal," and a discussion then developed on the question of valuation of the road.

Versailles Valuation.

According to the valuation made by the reparations commission under the terms of the Versailles treaty, Japan would be required to pay Germany a total of 9,000,000 gold German marks, a delegate said. This figure included in addition to the railway, the adjacent railway mines and certain other real estate, and formed the basis for consideration of every phase involved in determining a fair value. Chinese delegates declined to disclose to night how near their offer approached the reparations commission's valuation on the ground that their figure would naturally "be subject to change." When the questions of earnings, deterioration and development under the Japanese regime were further examined, it might be necessary, they declared, to appoint a board of assessors to decide on a fair valuation.

The Japanese delegates have agreed to furnish data on improvements and the financial condition of the road and one of the many phases of the problem to be discussed was declared to be whether earnings, if any, would be deducted from what China would pay if her offer were accepted.

82d Division Men Meet for Luncheon And Discuss Reunion

As one of a series planned for former members of the eighty-second division for the next few weeks, a luncheon was held at the Peacock cafe at 1 o'clock Monday. The chief interest of the meeting centered around the reunion of the division, which will be held at some time in the spring. It is announced that the reunion will be held either in New York, the home of many former members, or in Atlanta, where the division was trained. All members of the local organization are urged to attend the luncheons here.

W. S. HOWARD BETTER, ANNOUNCE PHYSICIANS

A slight improvement in the condition of William Scheley Howard, former congressman, was reported by physicians Monday. He has been critically ill at his residence in Decatur for the past few days.

Atlanta Chapter Of First Division Society Formed

An Atlanta chapter of the First Division society was organized at an enthusiastic meeting held Monday night at the Daffodil cafe. Many vocational students at Georgia Tech are former first division men, and they took a large part in the organization meeting.

A movement was launched to have every first division man now located in Atlanta attend the next meeting of the chapter, which will be on Wednesday night, December 21, at the Capital City club. Men of that division who did not attend the meeting Monday night have been requested to communicate with Chauncey Middlebrooks at 1203 Candler building, or Douglas Wright at 258 Candler annex.

Headquarters of the division at present are at Camp Dix, Wrightstown, N. J., where two divisional reunions have already been held.

Colonel Frank Parker, former commander of the famous "fighting first," was given a reception by a number of his former men during his recent visit here with Marshal Foch.

NEW COMMITTEE ON NAVAL PROBLEM

stressed by all British spokesmen. That was the firm conviction that submarines should be wholly abolished as naval weapons. It was asserted, however, that British acceptance of the "5-5-3" ratio was in no sense conditional upon such action. Great Britain does hope, however, her spokesmen said, for a chance to "state her case to the world" as to submarines before a plenary session of the conference.

The "big three" of the naval conference, Secretary Hughes, Arthur J. Balfour and Admiral Baron Kato, met at 1 o'clock Monday. The chief interest of the meeting centered around the question of the naval ratio problem, but no announcement of what transpired at the meeting was made. They will confer again tomorrow and it was regarded as probable that they were shaping up the program for deliberations of the "committee of fifteen" in the light of instructions Baron Kato has received from Tokyo on the "5-5-3" proposal. That the Japanese communication was regarded as most favorable to complete agreement as to naval strength was apparent in both American and British circles. How long it might take to work out the details of the treaty on the subject, no official word predicted. One American official said matters seemed to be rapidly "coming to a head."

American Group

Secretary Hughes will head the American group on the committee of fifteen, aided by Assistant Secretary

Roosevelt as civilian adviser, and by a naval officer. Rear Admiral Pratt, of the general board, seemed tonight to be the most logical choice for naval expert, Admiral Loez being occupied with his duties as chief of naval operations.

Mr. Balfour will head the British group, aided by Lord Leith-Ross, civilian adviser, and Rear Admiral Chatfield, of the British naval staff, as expert. Baron Kato will head the Japanese group. His selections for advisers were not announced, nor were an Italian and French committee groups ready for announcement tonight. No meeting of the new committee has been called as yet.

It was regarded as probable that Japanese acceptance of the "5-5-3" ratio now hinges, to some extent, upon an agreement as to naval bases in the Pacific. Whether this is to be worked out in a separate treaty was not disclosed. There is a disposition in American circles, however, to accept a status quo understanding on Pacific bases and fortifications, with indications that Japan would be content with this.

Interest Indirect

British interests in the fortifications problem represented by British spokesmen as being indirect and growing out of a friendship for both the United States and Japan as the parties chiefly concerned. Great Britain was said to be very hopeful that an agreement could be reached on the point. What interest other powers, such as Holland with Pacific islands on which some measure of fortification has been set may take in this discussion is not apparent. Possibly a separate treaty, to be signed by all powers with Pacific holdings, will result, some officials intimated tonight.

The British group strongly presents the case of Great Britain, urging utter abolition of submarines. There is little doubt that an effort to bring British arguments for such a course sharply to world attention by way of the conference is to be made. Flat assertion that British agreement to the vital "5-5-3" keystone of the American proposal was not contingent on submarine abolition, however, seemed to preclude the possibility of any deadlock on that point. If hopes of the British group for action on an expression of policy favoring abolition of submarines are not fulfilled, the "committee of fifteen" will be able to thresh out the questions in full sympathy with its purpose to reduce naval forces and planned no request for increase in her present naval strength. France was said by the Italians to have at present 102,000 tons in dreadnoughts and 74,000 tons in pre-dreadnoughts, as against Italy's 132,000 tons in dreadnoughts and 61,000 tons in pre-dreadnoughts. To what extent the Italian claim to naval parity with France, if formally presented, may complicate the ratio situation is not apparent. The French group have not indicated in any formal way what naval strength they would ask, and recent action of

SKAGGS IS PROMOTED BY EXPRESS COMPANY

Joseph E. Skaggs has been named general manager of the Southeastern Express company, with headquarters in Atlanta, according to announcement issued by President J. E. Hockaday, of that company. The position of assistant general manager, which he formerly held, has been abolished. The appointment of Mr. Skaggs to this high position will be read with much pleasure by his host of friends throughout the southeast, for he has held practically every position in the southeast, from wagon man to his present place, during the past thirty years.

When 19 years of age, Mr. Skaggs entered the employ of the old Southern Express company, as wagon man, in Valdosta, Ga. Shortly thereafter he was transferred to Jacksonville, where he became a stenographer, and worked his way up through every clerical position, to cashier, chief clerk, and then superintendent. In 1908 he was made assistant agent in Atlanta, and became agent for the old Southern Express company here, in 1910, which position he held until 1913, when he was made superintendent, with headquarters in Charlotte, N. C.

He remained in this position until 1917, when he was transferred to Boston, returning in 1918 to become superintendent of the consolidated express companies, operating under the name of the American Railway Express company.

With the promotion of Mr. Skaggs, Mr. Hockaday has relinquished the title now held by Mr. Skaggs.

The new general manager is a prominent and active member of the Kiwanis club, the chamber of commerce and the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association.

Savannah Elks Return.
Savannah, Ga., December 12.—(Special.)—A large delegation of Savannah Elks returned tonight from Albany, where they attended a meeting of the executive committee of the Elks' Association of Georgia.

ANOTHER BIG NIGHT AT ELKS' BAZAR

The Elks' Christmas charity bazar, which opened so auspiciously on Saturday evening at the Elks' hall, 40 East Ellis street, drew another large crowd again Monday evening.

The Elks are showing many attractions during the bazar week, in addition to free dancing and free enjoyment of excellent cabaret and vaudeville numbers. The entire basement floor is occupied with ten different live circus freaks, and with an interesting reproduction of an opium den back in the days when they flourished in San Francisco. Lectures are given on the influence of drugs, such as are found in these dens.

Elks themselves are managing many booths, where various articles are offered for sale. A 25-cent ticket admits for the entire week, and the proceeds are going to charity—mainly to give a big Christmas tree to Atlanta's poor kiddies.

U. S. TO ATTEMPT TO CLOSE PLACES SELLING WHISKY

Where it is commonly known that the tenant of a place is engaged in selling whisky proceedings will be instituted against the owner of the property as well as the tenant, according to announcement Monday by Nieufield T. Jones, assistant to Federal Prohibition Director F. D. Dismukes.

The government will proceed under provisions of a section of the national prohibition act which makes it criminal to conduct a "nuisance." The act contains authority for the issuance of injunctions to permanently enjoin the further occupancy of the place.

Vigorous enforcement of the "nuisance" section of the act is expected to accomplish drastic results. The first step taken under the "nuisance" provisions by the newly organized prohibition forces was made Monday when, it was announced, the government will undertake to close the back and taxi service on North Forsyth street, of which Pete Cefalu is proprietor.

Cefalu was held under $300 bond for the federal grand jury following the alleged purchase of a quart of rye whisky from Cefalu Saturday night by a prohibition agent.

A prohibition case is now pending in the federal district court, and according to Mr. Jones, he has been convicted once in the United States court for prohibition violation.

ONE INDICTMENT AGAINST GLENN IS NOT PROSSED

Summersville, Ga., December 12.—(Special.)—At the adjourned September term of Chattooga superior court, which convened here today to try issues arising from the charges of illegality filed by the bondsmen of A. H. Glenn, tax collector of Chattooga county, the rule nisi was taken and this bill will be heard in Rome on January 15.

At that time it will be decided whether or not the cases of Glenn and his 1920 and 1921 bondsmen will be consolidated and tried, probably at the March term of superior court here.

The indictments against H. S. Carson, cashier of the Bank of Lenoir; J. C. Chambers, cashier of the Bank of Menlo, and one against Glenn were dismissed, an insufficient number of jurors having signed the true bills. The case has attracted much interest, and a large crowd of county people were here for the trial of the case.

SCOGGINS ARRESTED Alleged Slayer of Jackson Jailed at Jefferson.

Athens, Ga., December 12.—Mark Scoggins, Jackson county farmer, for whom county officials had been searching since last Saturday night after the killing of John Jackson, was arrested here today and jailed at Jefferson, according to word received here tonight from Sheriff B. F. Collier there. Trouble that was followed by the slaying began after an amateur theatrical performance at a school house, the sheriff said.

FAIR WEATHER SLATED Normal Temperature and Clear Skies for Week.

With a slight fall in temperature for last night, C. F. von Herrmann, weather man, predicted fair weather for today with a more normal temperature.

Throughout the week weather conditions, he said, will be practically the same. Although reports from stations in the southern states show the mercury to be between 40 and 50 degrees, there is no cold wave anywhere. Fair weather, with brisk westerly winds, and no great change in temperature is indicated for Atlanta.

FURTHER DONATIONS FOR CRAWFORD FUND

Further contributions to the C. B. Crawford hero fund were announced Monday by Dr. John H. Conway, of 223 Woodward avenue, treasurer of the fund. Gifts now total $137.58, he stated, and the money is on deposit in the Atlanta National bank.

The fund is being raised for the two small children of Crawford, who is the negro who saved the life of a few nights ago in defending a white man from a gunman. Crawford's children were left without support, and Dr. Conway, having known Crawford for some time, suggested that a fund be raised to aid in bringing up the children, and contributions are being received daily.

FLYING VISIT IS MADE ATLANTA BY AVIATOR

A flying visit was made to Atlanta by Lieutenant P. S. Carter, of the army air service, who arrived from Jacksonville Sunday night, anchoring his plane at the landing station just beyond Hapeville.

Lieutenant Carter made headquarters at the Piedmont hotel for the night, and left for Chattanooga, Tenn., early Monday morning, bound for Knoxville. There he will dismantle his plane and have it shipped by rail to Jacksonville. He is making the flight to test out a new type of airplane motor.

SCHOONER RAIDED; MUCH LIQUOR FOUND

New Orleans, December 12.—The lumber schooner Alert was seized by federal prohibition officers at Capt. Alexander Fay and his crew of seven arrested today, following a raid on the vessel in which wines and liquors variously estimated to be worth from $100,000 to $250,000 were seized.

Soft Drink Tax Will Be Lifted On January 1st

With the ringing in of the new year the "dope bound," the "chocolate-milk-fiend," and the "ice-cream bug," will miss their daily reminder that we have passed through a world war, for the soft drink tax will be lifted on January 1, 1922.

For long now the lowly nickel has never been free from the 1-cent satellite that has been its escort in pop stand transactions. On New Year's day, however, the 5-cent piece will come into its own.

It has come to the attention of J. T. Rose, collector of internal revenue, that there has been some confusion in the minds of soft drink dispensers regarding the tax now being paid by the consumer on such drinks.

In a recent amendment to the internal revenue law the tax on soft drinks of all kinds was removed so far as the dealer and consumer were concerned. In lieu of the consumer tax a tax against the manufacturers of syrups which are used at fountains in mixing soft drinks will be assessed.

Mr. Rose stated that a few soft-drink dealers in Atlanta were under the impression that this amendment was effective during December, and added that this view was erroneous.

The 1-cent piece will make its exit, which will be cheerfully noted by patrons of thirst-quenching fountains of soft-drink dealers, only with the advent of the new year.

Big Meeting Called To Consider Sewer Work Is Postponed

Postponement of the mass meeting which had been called for Tuesday night at the W. F. Slaton school to consider ways and means of extending the Hill street sewer and necessary connections, was definitely announced Monday. This action was taken in order to gather additional data. The committee in charge of this work is composed of V. B. Green, chairman; Thomas C. McLaurin, R. C. Lieb, W. H. Howell and A. E. Everett.

When the campaign for bonds was under way, according to the members of the committee, promises were made in the third ward and other parts of the city that the Hill street sewer and other open sewers in the ward would be extended and connected.

Robert Ivey, at the morning service in the Avenue Presbyterian church Sunday, said: "It is little less than plain, unadulterated dishonesty, coupled with politics, to promise the people one thing and turn right around and deliberately do another."

"We don't want this sewer to run out a few hundred feet," stated Samuel H. Moore, of 288 Atlanta avenue, "and left open to endanger the health of our people."

MISS HOWARD GIVEN PARDON BY GOVERNOR

On recommendation of the state prison commission and many prominent citizens of Columbus Governor Thomas W. Hardwick Monday granted a pardon to Miss Augusta Howard, an aged and prominent woman of Columbus, who recently was convicted of shooting a small boy who was picking flowers in her yard. She was given a sentence of from one to two years.

In the record it was shown that Miss Howard had been annoyed for quite a period by small boys who picked flowers and fruit from her yard. Recently she caught several in the act and becoming exasperated fired a shot to frighten the boys. The shot wounded one of the lads who was in a tree.

It was represented to the governor that circumstances in the case were such as to justify a pardon as this was the only method under which the aged woman could escape serving a prison sentence.

VAN BUREN TO RETAIN FULTON HIGH POSITION

Harold K. Van Buren, professor of English in the Fulton High school, received notification Saturday of his election as national secretary of the alumni association of the Briarly Hall Military school, located at Poolsville, Md., also secretary to the stockholders of the institution.

Mr. Van Buren announced that he would carry on his official business from Atlanta, and would very likely open offices of the alumni association in this city from which to carry on the campaign to raise $100,000 for improvements and enlargements to the present plant. Mr. Van Buren will not resign as a professor in Fulton High.

Suit Against Roads.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL FOR DR. VAN HOOSE

Rome, Ga., December 12.—(Special.)—The funeral services for President A. W. Van Hoose, of Shorter college, who died Sunday, were held here at his home late this afternoon, with Dr. J. E. Sammons, of the First Baptist church, officiating. The ceremony was brief, simple, but impressive.

A procession of the students and faculty, headed by the seniors in caps and gowns, stood near the bier throughout the services. The students of Darlington school, led by President Wilcox, followed. Miss Louise Bennett, a Shorter student, sang "Abide With Me," Dr. Van Hoose's favorite hymn.

The floral offerings were numerous and unusually beautiful. A blower of flowers sent by the Shorter faculty covered the casket.

The body will be sent to Gainesville. Dr. Van Hoose's former home, for interment and will be accompanied by a number of prominent Romans. The train will leave Rome at 7:45 Tuesday morning.

Dr. Van Hoose was born in Griffin, October 31, 1860. He was a graduate of the University of Georgia in the class of '82 and after graduation was for several years an associate professor of the university. He was a member of the S. A. E. fraternity. Dr. Van Hoose taught at Thomasville, where he was a member of the faculty of the state university. He then accepted a position on the faculty of Howard university, at Marion, Ala., and from there went to Gainesville college. He founded Brenau college at Gainesville and was its president 23 years, associated with Dr. Pierce. He founded Riverside Military school and from there returned to Brenau, from which institution he came to Rome to accept the presidency of Shorter college, which he held until his death Sunday morning.

Dr. Van Hoose received the degree of L. L. D. from Mercer university. He has been prominently identified with Baptist activities in the state of Georgia and for many years was a member of the executive board of Baptist associations in various communities and was widely known all over the south.

Among his other activities was his membership of the board of directors of the Hearn academy at Cave Springs.

On July 11, 1887, he married Miss Lucy Rucker, of Thomaston, and she and his little daughter, Mary, survive him. Other members of the immediate family are his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Glover of Macon; Mrs. S. L. Tolhills of New York; his brother, Ellison Van Hoose, a noted singer, of Houston, Texas, and his niece, Mrs. Henry Charles, of Macon.

GREATER STRENGTH Fewer Spoonfuls

The value of baking powder is based on its leavening strength. You can't judge it by the size of the can—or by the amount you get for your money. You must estimate it by the amount of baking powder used in each baking and the results you get.

CALUMET

is the greatest value ever offered in Baking Powder—it has greater raising "force"—it goes farther than many of the other brands. You use only a rounded or heaping teaspoonful where many others call for two teaspoonfuls or more.

But Baking Powder is not all you'll save when using Calumet. You save baking materials. Calumet never fails. The last level teaspoonful is as powerful as the first. Calumet is perfectly manufactured—keeps perfectly—and is moderate in price.

You save when you buy it. You save when you use it.

One trial will satisfy you of these facts—and demonstrate beyond doubt that "Calumet spells economy."

Your grocer sells it on a guarantee of money back if you are not pleased with results.

Calumet contains only such ingredients as have been approved officially by the U. S. Food Authorities.

PACKER STRIKE
SITUATION QUIET

Chicago, December 12.—The second week of the strike of packing house workers opened today with both sides standing firm and less change in the situation than on any day since the strike started, except Sunday.

The anticipation of strike sympathizers that large numbers of workmen of allied industries in the packing plants would join in a sympathetic strike apparently had failed to materialize, except in sporadic walk-outs.

Reports that members of the packing house teamsters' union intended to join the strike were denied by George Golder, secretary, and officials of the packing plants denied that large numbers of car repairmen in the stockyards district had walked out.

Cornelius Hayes, international president of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, which called the strike, said there was no change in the situation today, so far as the union was concerned.

Spokesmen for the packers said the only change in their plants was for the better, and asserted that more help was available than needed.

No disorders were reported here, and little change was reported in the situation in other plants.

OBREGON WITNESSES
POPOCATEPETL ERUPT

Mexico City, December 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Popocatepetl, the great volcano southeast of this city, burst into violent eruption yesterday afternoon, a column of smoke and ashes being thrown 2,500 feet above the summit of the mountain. President Obregon was entertaining a party of friends at Chapultepec castle, and had strolled with them on the balcony when he observed the eruption. He called for strong glasses and, after closely observing the column of smoke rising 40 miles away, directly that two aviators be sent to the mountain to ascertain the seriousness of the outbreak.

The aviators reported, upon their return, that they had heard heavy rumbling in the mountain, and that lava was flowing down the slopes below the crater. Warnings have been sent to the residents of villages near the mountain, but reports indicate that these small towns have been deserted for weeks.

Within the last month, Popocatepetl has been reported active, each eruption preceding greater violence than the one preceding it, and a serious outbreak is forecast.

IN TRIAL OF BURCH

Los Angeles, December 12.—Two empty shotgun shells were introduced in evidence late today in the trial of Arthur C. Burch for alleged murder of J. Belton Kennedy, following testimony that they had been found a short distance from the spot in Beverly Glen, where Kennedy was shot to death.

Thomas Besant, 15, told of finding the shells the afternoon following the shooting. He is a son of Louis and Elizabeth Besant, called as witnesses last week. Mrs. Besant testified that after the shooting she heard a noise as though some one was running through some brush in the direction of where the shells were picked up. Further on, in the same direction, the prosecution contends, Burch had concealed an automobile, which he had rented in Los Angeles the evening of the shooting.

Other testimony dealt with the action of Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain, co-defendant of Burch, immediately following the shooting, and of Burch at the county jail after his arrest.

Need of Landing
Place for Planes
In Atlanta Shown

Unless a suitable landing place for aeroplanes is provided, Atlanta will not be made one of the points on the route of the Aero Rapid Transit, a New York city, according to Franklin L. Wallace, president of the organization, who anchored his ship, a German battle plane, captured during the late war, on the Candler landing field at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Mr. Wallace is making the flight from Dayton, Ohio, to Miami, piloted by Walter J. Carr, and came from Knoxville, Tenn., to Atlanta in 2 hours and 10 minutes. Forty minutes, or about one-third as much time, was used in the flight, said Mr. Wallace, was consumed in finding a landing place.

The Tech aero squadron was scanning the skies when the plane crossed their range of vision, and followed the machine to its landing place, where they rendered valuable assistance in staking it to its mooring place.

"It is the purpose of the Aero Rapid Transit to send fifteen planes, at the rate of one plane every ten days, from New York to Miami," stated Mr. Wallace, "and if a suitable landing place can be provided, Atlanta, very probably, will be chosen as a stop place for the route, which would pass through Knoxville, Atlanta and America, would be preferable to any other, as it presents resting places at proper intervals."

Mr. Wallace and his pilot, Captain Carr, will leave at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning for Miami, and will carry a passenger for a nominal rate, to cover cost of gasoline.

The plane has had one flight in Germany of four hours' length, and was brought down in a battle when the pilot was struck by three bullets through the gun ring. It is driven by a 204-horsepower Benz motor, and has a total weight of two tons.

Asks for Landing Place.
Major B. Clagett, of the United States air service, has asked Mayor Key for the use of the eighteen acres of city-owned land on which are located the city dairy and farm, for the purpose of securing a government landing place for mail airplanes.

The property adjoining the Peachtree disposal plant, belonging to the city, was at first refused, but the city dairy and farm property is now considered better. The request will be brought to the attention of the prison committee.

FAKE AGENTS TRY TO ROB RESIDENCE

One of the men is declared to have held a pistol in his hand. Alarmed by the previous occurrences of a similar nature, the butler locked the screen door in their faces and fled from the house, while the men were attempting to break down the door. Evidently fearing that the butler might summon officers, the men left in their automobile.

Mr. Regenstien declared that about two months ago a similar telephone call was received at the house, at about the same time in the afternoon, and the person calling, who asked if the owner of the house was at home, was informed that he was not.

About an hour afterward an automobile containing three men was driven to the front of the house, and all three went to the door.

The butler, upon being told that the men were prohibition enforcement officers, and that it was their intention to search the home, refused to permit them to enter. During the altercation Mr. Regenstien arrived, and upon seeing him the men went away, saying the nothing was done.

Mr. Regenstien coming in, they drove away in their automobile while the butler was telling Mr. Regenstien of their claims to be enforcement officers.

Five weeks ago, Mr. Regenstien states, two white men drove up before the house in an automobile and attempted to gain entrance by saying that they were prohibition agents. Mr. Regenstien's brother-in-law, in the house upon this occasion, locked the door in the men's faces, and they went away.

NEED $243,042,060
TO PAY RAILROADS

Washington, December 12.—Final payments to railroads by the government on claims and adjustments arising out of war-time control are estimated to require $243,042,060, according to a report sent by Director-General of Railroads Davis to the senate today, in response to a resolution introduced by Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin. At the same time, he said that the administration had available cash credits with the treasury of $152,380,000 for use in the settlements and likewise holds much larger sums in securities.

Director Davis, however, refused to report on a section of the LaFollette resolution, which requested details and items of the settlements made with individual roads.

"It is submitted that presenting the information asked for would hinder and delay the progress of the work of the railroad administration," the report said on this point, "and prevent expedition in final liquidation of these matters, and I am instructed by the president to respectfully submit that it is against public interest to furnish same other than is presented in this report."

To Avoid Disputes.
The director-general explained further that "lump sum" payments had been made the roads after agreement had been reached with the owning corporations, without giving notice of the government's estimates on each disputed item, to avoid "wrangles of comparison with the officers of other roads seeking to settle their claims."

From its institution in 1918, to December 1, Mr. Davis said the central railroad administration had received $3,478,572,520, this being exclusive of the revenues of the railroads through their own offices. Direct appropriation of congress accounted for $1,750,000,000 of the central fund, and the navy $1,350,000,000 of the total of working capital obtained by the government. In addition, the war department paid $221,705,000 to the administration for transportation, the navy $1,350,000 and the postoffice $85,575,000.

U. S. Expenditures.
The government spent for additions and betterment on the roads during the control period $1,144,081,541, the report estimates, of which $381,640,557 was for new equipment. This total stood technically as an amount collectible by the government from the roads in final settlements. Various settlements made with individual roads on December 1, it was said, of $5,028,508, as a government credit.

The report must be disposed of in future final settlements, the report said, "either funded in such an amount as the administration may refrain from setting off these claims against amounts due the carriers from the government, or deducted from the amounts due the carriers from the government."

President Unable To Attend Meets
Of Roads Bodies

Washington, December 12.—President Harding informed a committee that called today at the white house that he would be unable to attend the conference to be held in Phoenix, Ariz., next April of the United States Good Roads association and the Bankhead National Highway association, but declared that in event of a trip through the west next summer as planned he would be delighted to travel over the Bankhead national highway.

The president accepted an honorary membership in the Bankhead National Highway association, and in doing so paid tribute to the late Senator Bankhead, of Alabama, saying that if there were no other reason for desiring to travel over the road bearing his name, it would be on account of high esteem in which he held the late Senator. The invitation was delivered on behalf of the two associations by J. A. Rountree, director general of the United States Good Roads association, and by Governor Campbell and Senator Ashurst, of Arizona. The committee, which later called on Mrs. Harding, and extended to her an invitation to accompany her husband on his visit to the west, included Benham, chairman of the Bankhead National Highway association; Mrs. Albert E. Thornton, of Atlanta, president of the woman's commission of the Bankhead Highway association; Representative Bankhead of Alabama; Mrs. J. H. Bankhead, wife of the late senator; C. S. Barrett, of Georgia, president of the Farmers' National union; A. C. McManis, of South Carolina; Edward Britton, of North Carolina, and Mrs. Ida Wilkins, Miss Grace West, Miss Mary Emery Wilson and Mrs. Churchill Gibson Graves, all of Virginia.

DARING THIEVES
LOOT RESIDENCE OF JUDGE THOMAS

The residence of Judge E. D. Thomas, at 165 Park drive, was ransacked between 11 and 2 o'clock Monday, and several hundred dollars in cash and jewelry taken. Detectives investigating the theft reported that entrance had been effected by jimmying a front window.

The robbery occurred while Mrs. Thomas was downtown engaged in shopping. She told officers that shortly before leaving home, a negro had appeared at the residence and inquired for employment. He was told that he was not needed, and he took his departure. It was said, officers were searching for him late Monday as a suspect.

Entering the room of Miss Elizabeth Thomas, he had secured $5 in cash, a pearl necklace, which had been given to the owner at the time of her graduation from the Girls' High school; a wrist watch, two lockets and a ring. In the same room a $50 Liberty bond and two cameos in a dressing table drawer, were overlooked.

An automobile was stolen early Monday night from Stuart P. Murray, 139 Peachtree place. The machine had been parked in front of the Lyric theater.

The automobile of Howard Caldwell, of Peachtree road, was stolen from in front of the Haverly Furniture store, on Auburn avenue, Monday night.

Fleming Elder, a negro, was robbed of $16 by two negro highwaymen who held him up at the point of a pistol on Foundry street. The robbery occurred at about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon.

ATHENS DRUGGIST
COMMITTS SUICIDE

Athens, Ga., December 12.—(Special.)—Dr. H. B. Fisher, 73, well-known business man in Athens, and the head of four drug stores in the city, died at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning in a local hospital following a self-inflicted bullet wound in the head.

It is stated by intimate friends of Dr. Fisher that for the past several weeks he has been worried over business conditions, and it is thought that this worry developed into a form of melancholia which is the direct cause of his taking his life. It was learned Monday morning that he told a life-long friend Saturday night that he did not know what was going to happen, with the high rents and no business.

The tragedy occurred Monday morning shortly before the breakfast hour at the Palmer home on Hancock avenue. Mrs. Palmer was in the dining room assisting with the preparation of breakfast, and Dr. Palmer and his two sons were upstairs dressing. The report of a pistol discharge was heard, and upon the arrival of the members of the family Dr. Palmer's room, he was found lying on the floor, with a bullet wound in the temple.

He was immediately rushed to a local hospital, where the best of medical attention was given him, but his death followed two hours afterwards, without his ever regaining consciousness.

Dr. Palmer is survived by his wife, Mrs. H. B. Palmer, and two sons, Arthur and Lloyd Palmer, who are connected with him in the drug business, in which he has been actively engaged in Athens for more than 40 years.

His practice in this line necessitated frequent trips to Washington and to handle the interests of his clients with dispatch and better efficiency, he decided to open the Washington office, which is located in the Metropolitan Bank building. Mr. Murphy is chairman of the tax committee of council.

Many Virginia and government officials who were associated with the late congressman in his public service attended the obsequies.

FEAR FOOD TRUST
BY FIVE PACKERS

Washington, December 12.—Modification of the packer consent decree as proposed to allow the five large packing companies to handle unrelated lines would lead, in the opinion of the federal trade commission, to domination of the country's food supply by the five companies.

The views of the commission were presented by W. V. Durant, its assistant chief economist, today to the inter-departmental board conducting hearings on the advisability of modifying the decree, under which the big five packers two years ago were ordered to divorce themselves from all activities except the butchering and handling of meat and similar products.

Armed with a mass of data, Mr. Durant declared he appeared to present an economic study of conditions showing "the menace of packer control" of the wholesale grocery business of the country. He declared that the consent decree had failed in its purpose to restore competition in the handling of foodstuffs, as the packers were still permitted to deal in some lines, and he asserted modification would enable them to "attain their goal" of domination of all the food placed on the American table.

Investigations by the federal trade commission of the packers' businesses prior to decree, Mr. Durant declared, established that the packers were seeking control of the country's grocery business because when meat prices were high people turned to substitute foods and the packers wished to control the substitute foods in order to maintain meat prices.

The federal trade commission contended the attorney-general should not recommend modification of the decree, as it would destroy the principle of competition in the handling of foodstuffs. If it were felt upon investigation that a limited monopoly of the country's food distribution was economically sound, he added, recommendation for modification should still be withheld, as that, he said, was a subject for congressional legislation, and not court action.

Hearing of the committee prior to the appearance of Mr. Durant was enlivened today by charges that star chamber methods were being employed by the committee. The charges were made by Manning Sires, attorney of New York, but after denial by Chairman Galloway and Judge B. T. Hainer, department of agriculture representatives on the committee, were withdrawn by Mr. Sires as applied to the committee.

Slaughter's Loot,
In Old Auto Tire,
Hidden in Texas

Pine Bluff, Ark., 12.—Buried in an old automobile tire, somewhere in northern Texas, is $102,000 worth of securities, Tom Slaughter's share of loot obtained by his band in numerous bank robberies, according to A. W. Mills, local agent of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company.

Mr. Mills said he had had an appointment to meet Slaughter, slain following a sensational jail break at the penitentiary, tomorrow and at that time the bandit was to have told him the hiding place of the money so that it could be returned to the banks before Slaughter went to the electric chair.

Mr. Mills said that after Slaughter's conviction on a murder charge and his incarceration at the state prison farm at Tucker, the bandit professed religion to a Little Rock preacher and that the latter told him he would have to return the money before he could be forgiven. After conferring with the preacher, Mills said he had an appointment to see Slaughter on September 20, at which the hiding place of the loot was to have been revealed. Two days previously, however, Slaughter tried to escape from prison, killing a guard for which he was sentenced to the electric chair. Later another meeting was arranged but Slaughter's death left the hiding place of the loot a mystery.

ATTEMPT TO KILL OFFICER CHARGED

Night Clerk at Gate City Hotel Arrested After Mysterious Shooting on Monday Evening.

What police declare to have been an attempt to assassinate Patrolman H. R. Smith in front of the Gate City hotel, on South Forsyth street, at about 9 o'clock Monday night, resulted in the arrest, later in the night, of A. R. Edwards, aged 26, night clerk of the Gate City hotel. Edwards is being held on a charge of suspicion in connection with the shooting.

Patrolman Smith was walking his beat in front of the hotel when a bullet, which police believe was fired from a second-story window of the hotel, penetrated his cap, but did not injure him.

After reporting the case to headquarters, the patrolman continued to walk his beat.

The shooting was investigated by Detectives McDaniel and Woodson. No details of circumstances leading up to the arrest of the night clerk were given.

News of Mr. Eagan's selection by the board of directors as president of the big pipe plant reached Atlanta Monday. He is well known in Atlanta as a philanthropist and is a prominent layman in the Central Presbyterian church.

Mr. Eagan stated Monday that in his belief Christians who do not make the teachings of Christ the guiding principles of their business are lacking in faith.

He announced the following "platform":

A reasonable living wage to the lowest paid workman.

Constant employment to every member of the organization.

An actual application of the Golden Rule to all relations between employee and employer.

The resultant service by the American Cast Iron Pipe company, Mr. Eagan believes firmly, will include:

Service to the public, by manufacturing an honest product.

Service to employees by the application of the Golden Rule and the payment of at least a comfortable living wage to each.

Service to the stockholders by earning for them a fair return for their investment.

Keen Resentment To Irish Treaty Voiced by Craig

BY RALPH H. TURNER.
United News Staff Correspondent.
London, December 12.—In a speech bristling with resentment against the British government and antagonism to the Irish treaty, Sir James Craig, premier of Ulster, has revealed how bitter was the disillusionment of his final conference with Lloyd-George in London.

But beyond showing evidence of hostility and bad feeling which will retard indefinitely the prospect of a united Ireland, Craig's speech can have very little political effect upon the course of the treaty. It will in no way present an obstacle to ratification of the agreement by the British parliament.

Craig's speech also told the story of his failure to wrest further concessions from Lloyd-George, and of the government's determination to put into effect the clauses under which Ulster's boundaries will be fixed by a commission and her finances be governed from Dublin if she fails to join the free state.

GUARD ON BUDGET SYSTEM IS URGED

In addition to Mr. Black, those on the committee are M. B. Wellborn, Joseph A. McCord, Thomas Erwin, J. K. Ottley, J. S. Floyd, Joseph H. Boston, Wellborn Blalock, Henry Heinz, Lee Ashcraft, Henry W. Davis, W. L. Moore and W. E. Harrington.

Value of System Shown.

"The value of the executive budget system is clearly demonstrated by the president's budget as presented to congress," Mr. Black said Monday. "In less than six months, General Dawes has built up a new bureau of experts, who, under his direction, have subjected the activities and expenditures of the government to the most searching examination for the elimination of efficiency and waste."

"General Dawes has been able to reduce current expenditures far below the appropriations, and estimates for 1922 and 1923 have been substantially reduced."

"The executive branch of the government has done its work well, and it is now up to the congress to cool the people must see to it that their representatives take no backward step in the matter. Efforts probably will be made to influence congress to appropriate larger amounts than the president's budget allows for and plans of all sorts will be made to justify various proposed increases."

"Popular pressure alone will be able to defeat those strongly supported demands."

"Eternal vigilance and continued co-operation on the part of the congress are necessary if the system is to be ultimately successful."

Indorsed by President.

The program of the national budget committee, a non-partisan organization, which for years has sponsored the national budget system and business administration of governmental expenditures, bears the indorsement of President Harding and General Charles G. Dawes, director of the budget, as well as by members of the cabinet and administration officials.

The delegation, headed by Mr. Pratt, left New York Monday, November 14, with Chicago as its first objective, stopping at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Covington, Ky., and Indianapolis. Before concluding the tour, practically every city of importance will be visited by members of the party.

Public meetings have been arranged for the "budget guard" speakers before chambers of commerce, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, and other civic organizations in various cities. Local state and city chairmen, with the co-operation of governors who are honorary state chairmen and mayors who are honorary city chairmen have assisted in arrangements for the meetings.

FEDERAL LYNCHING PROBE IS STARTED

John T. Pratt, who is chairman of the board of directors of the national committee is a pioneer in the movement for budgetary reform. He is also among the first to advocate the formation of an organization embracing statesmen, business men, educators, labor leaders and agriculturists as a means of accomplishing this reform.

Mr. Pratt is a son of Charles Pratt, founder of Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y., and is a graduate of Amherst college and of Harvard law school. Since 1900 he has practiced law in New York city, and is identified with many important business enterprises.

Foreseeing that the United States would probably play a great part in the world war, Mr. Pratt, in 1916, assisted in drawing up the Chamberlain bill providing for universal military training.

During the war he was general manager for the department of military affairs of the American Red Cross in Paris. Prior to that he served for six months as an associate director of the United States public service reserve in the department of labor. In addition to membership on the board of trustees of Pratt institute, Mr. Pratt is identified with numerous philanthropic and patriotic organizations in New York.

The forum luncheon at which he will speak will be held at 12:30 o'clock Wednesday at the chamber of commerce assembly hall.

Anonymous Letters, Warning U. S. Deputy Clerk, Are Now Being Traced, Say Government Officers.

Athens, Ga., December 12.—(Special.)—Federal investigation into the killings that were staged in Oconee county Sunday, December 4, has been started and through the joint efforts of the federal officials and local authorities, it is believed that the persons guilty of the law violations will be brought to justice.

Since the investigation was begun, James H. G. Comer, United States deputy in Athens, has received several anonymous communications warning him to discontinue the federal investigation. These letters have been traced, according to Judge Corbett, and the persons responsible will be brought to trial.

The Oconee officials who are working toward the capture of the gang which is said to be responsible for the disorder and killings in that county, and incidentally who are charged with selling illicit liquor, have been in communication with Judge Blanton Fortson, of the superior court, who will aid in the government investigation by calling a special grand jury at the proper time.

been sent to the various counties asking that a commissioner, clerk and attorney from each county be present. The meeting is called by the Bibb county commissioners, who have discussed the proposition with many prominent persons.

In the five propositions to be discussed, the first provides the removal of the burden of a tax necessary to refund the state from the ordinary property holder.

The propositions follow:

"First: The bonds issued to be of such an amount that can be paid off, both principal and interest, with the automobile tax fund and the gasoline tax fund and in no event to issue an amount whereby the people will be taxed on their property to retire the bonds.

"Second: The money already expended or the money that will be expended on the state system of roads by the individual counties up to the time that the bonds are issued to be returned to the counties which have been spending their funds on the state system under the supervision of the state highway department.

"Third: The bonds to be issued for the purpose of building the state system of roads and such roads to be built in each county on the state system that is best suited to take care of the traffic each locality.

"Fourth: Under the federal aid bill, which has now become a law, each state must amend its constitution to the effect that they can engage in public construction and provide that the state can levy a tax to meet the federal aid appropriation. The federal government will not in the future deal with the individual counties and the money with which federal aid is matched must be raised by the state.

"Under the present federal aid bill, the states are given three years in which to comply with these requirements, and they can participate in federal aid for these three years, but after the third year has expired, those states which have not met the necessary requirements must cease to participate in federal aid. Under the plan contemplated for a state bond issue, it will be necessary to levy a tax to match federal aid, but the federal aid bill requires that the constitution be amended so that the states can levy a tax for this purpose, regardless of whether or not they avail themselves of the privilege. In order for the state of Georgia to take the necessary amendments to the constitution so as to participate in federal aid, the same will have to be passed by the legislature at its session in 1922, and voted on by the people in the general election in November, 1922. If this is not done next year, it will be impossible for this state to provide necessary amendments and carry a bond issue in the time allowed by the federal aid bill, and this would mean that we would cease to participate in federal aid until we take the necessary steps to provide funds, etc.

"Fifth, it has also been suggested that the bonds be issued in a series of $10,000,000 each year, and this would mean that in addition to a federal aid that approximately $10,000,000 would be spent in the state each year, and under the present conditions this would improve the conditions prevailing at this time and would give employment to many not now employed."

Supporting Counties.

These counties have agreed to the proposition: Clarke, Richmond, Putnam, Glynn, Brainerd, Hall, Floyd, Lowndes, Thomas, Sumter, Worth, Tift, Dougherty, Muscogee, Troup, Polk, Coweta, Bibb, Fulton, Campbell.

At Wednesday's meeting an organization with state-wide limitations will be arranged to inform the people of the issue pertaining to a state bond issue and to impress upon the people that they will not be taxed on their property in whatever form is adopted to retire the bonds to be issued by the state.

ATLANTA SCENARISTS

The Palmer Scenario club held an interesting meeting Saturday, the program consisting of the reading of a number of original photoplay stories which were the result of their study of situation sequence. At a previous meeting, a random situation, "A Girl in a Barber Shop at Midnight," was given out, each member to write independently a story leading up to the barber shop incident, giving their reasons for the girl being there at that hour.

There were no two stories alike, running the gamut from comedy to tragic drama. Among those receiving special mention were "An Episode at Toni's," by Mrs. M. J. De Givie; "The Menace of the Blade," by Mrs. B. R. Stevens; "An Interrupted Dinner Party," by W. B. Ames; "The Wife That Never Failed," by Mrs. W. E. Ashley; and "The General," by Miss Mary Thomas.

RAYMOND HIGGINS

Raymond Higgins, a 15-year-old boy, who left his home in New Haven, Conn., is being sought by his brother, Frank Higgins, who has come to Atlanta looking for the lad, whose absence is a source of grief to his mother.

Frank Higgins, who traced his brother to the Ansley hotel, where he had registered for several days, has asked the aid of The Constitution, as well as the city police. He is very anxious that the boy come to see him at the Ansley hotel.

Hamilton Burton lay for weeks in insensibility and delirium, and when he returned consciousness he realized his predicament he raved like a madman against restraint, counting the precious moments which were being used against him.

This very fretting against the inevitable burdened him with a waste of nerve and brain which should send him forth, depleted in strength and weakened in power, to meet his adversaries.

Nor had the forces aligned against him marked time. When he took the field again he must take it in a realm of altered and shrunken boundaries, and the roll-call of his allies would show many missing—gone over to the foe.

De Grost bowed.

"I beg your pardon," he said. "I am not sure that I am afraid of death."

"No," he answered, "you have proved the contrary."

"If my identity is discovered," Hagon continued, "I have the means of instant death at hand. I do not use it because of my love for the person who links me to this world. For her sake I live, and for her sake I bear always the memory of the shameful past."

"I promise you that I will make the tragedy complete. But for the rest, I refuse to pay your price. A great power trusted me, and whatever its motives may have been, its money came very near indeed to freeing my people. I have nothing more to say to you, sir."

The Baron de Grost was taken aback. He had scarcely contemplated refusal.

"You must understand," he explained, "that this is not a personal matter. Even if I myself would spare you, those who are more powerful than I will strike. The society to which I belong does not tolerate failure. I am empowered even to offer you its protection, if you will give me the information for which I ask."

Hagon rose to his feet, and before De Grost could foresee his purpose had rung the bell.

"My decision is unchanging," he said. "You can pull down the roof upon my head, but I carry next my sword an instant and unfailing means of escape."

A waiter stood in the doorway. "You will take this gentleman to the lift," Hagon directed.

There was once more a touch in his manner of that half divine authority which had thrilled the great multitude of his believers. De Grost was forced to admit defeat.

"I understand," he said, in a low tone. "I have finished with politics. I have nothing to say to you."

"I trust," De Grost persisted, suavely, "that you will be better advised."

DESTINY

BY CHARLES NEVILLE BUCK
(Copyright, 1921, for The Constitution)

Next Week,
"The Fighting Shepherdess," by Caroline Lockhart.
Starting Next Sunday.

Hamilton Burton's lights burned late that night in his office, and up to them many baleful glances turned from the sidewalk below. Today he had made a panic, but between the opening and closing of his eyes, he had seen a long row of must be filled with the most exact and brilliant maneuverings.

All day today he had borne down the market on a scale unprecedented. All day tomorrow he must be in a position to reap the harvest he had sown—else he might find himself the victim of a trap which he had prepared at a night's notice.

After reaching his home, he went, attended by his valet, Yamuro, down into the basement where between marble slabs and porphyry columns was a small gymnasium lined with the magnificence of a Roman bath.

Beyond an arched doorway was another room, where the basin of a swimming pool spread cool and inviting light upon the floor.

Here each morning Hamilton Burton plunged into the icy water and came out with a splendid vitality glowing on his firm flesh. But at night he used only the swimming pool as a means of relaxation.

So when they came into the gymnasium they did not touch the switch which lighted the pool.

Then Hamilton Burton stripped and attacked the punching bag, until his muscles glistened and shone as if they had been freshly oiled.

When at last he had burned his mental restlessness and physical weariness, Burton halted and stood with his shoulders thrown back and his head erect.

Yamuro went out into still another room for the accessories of his Japanese art of muscle training, and Hamilton turned idly toward the darkened swimming pool. He strolled over to the edge of the marble basin and looked out on the spring garden.

It was all very dark here, but his feet were familiar with all of it.

"I might as well cap it with a plunge," he told himself, and lifting his hands above his head, he launched outward in a graceful curve.

Yamuro came back a moment later and looked about the empty gymnasium. His face suddenly went pale.

He had not noticed that his master had slipped and fallen into the pool. Then he turned on the pool light and rushed frantically back.

It had not occurred to him to warn his chief that the basin had been emptied and refilled, and that below the diving-board was only six inches of water—just enough to give back, in semi-darkness, a liquid reflection—and beneath that solid slabs of marble.

Yamuro peered over the edge, and a deep groan broke from him. At the bottom lay the figure of Hamilton Burton, with his head bent to one side.

It lay very still, and the water was slowly coloring from a wound in the scalp.

Such a pregnant item of news as Hamilton Burton's accident could not long be kept from the street and the public. At the first announcement that "Great Major" lay ill, perhaps mortally hurt, the trampled prices of securities began to revive like dusty blossoms under a shower. All day long came damp extras from the press heralding a bull-dog almost as wild and swift in its price-recovery as yesterday's bear-day had been terrific in its avalanche. Burton millions were melting like hailstones falling on hot metal.

CHAPTER VI.
Suicide or Murder.

Hamilton Burton lay for weeks in insensibility and delirium, and when he returned consciousness he realized his predicament he raved like a madman against restraint, counting the precious moments which were being used against him.

This very fretting against the inevitable burdened him with a waste of nerve and brain which should send him forth, depleted in strength and weakened in power, to meet his adversaries.

Nor had the forces aligned against him marked time. When he took the field again he must take it in a realm of altered and shrunken boundaries, and the roll-call of his allies would show many missing—gone over to the foe.

Again in his office, in defiance of the physicians' orders, upon the world of allied assaults that pressed him back his two mighty hands. "You are mistaken. I still have hands." "And with them," Burton ironically questioned, "you mean to begin over and make an honest living?"

Haswell shook his head. His tone took on, in its level pitch of implacability, a quality indescribably horrifying.

"An honest killing. I am going to kill you."

"That," suggested Burton, "will not be necessary. I am on the point of saving you the trouble—and personal danger. In my bag there is a note stating that fact—and my reasons."

"No," Haswell persisted in that level intonation with which men sometimes speak from the scaffold. "No that won't do. I must have the pleasure of killing you with my own hands; of seeing the breath go out of your throat—afterward the suicide will be my own."

Suddenly a hideous expression came into his eyes, until out of them shone the horror-worship that had obsessed his soul. He picked up Burton's weapon, which he slipped into his pocket. Then he raised the window.

"I know," because I walked up. I didn't want to be stopped—too soon. It won't take you so long to get down."

Hamilton Burton was found dead, the next morning, on the pavement twenty stories below his office window.

The coroner said after viewing the evidence that he had killed Haswell first and himself next; so they added to all the sins of his overcharged account the crowning infamy of murder.

Atlanta Music Club Members Are Anxious To Hear Werrenrath

Members of the Atlanta Music club have been expressing special pleasure this week over the definite announcement that Reinald Werrenrath, the baritone, would at last give a recital in Atlanta.

Mr. Werrenrath, who is booked for Monday night at the Auditorium, although he has never sung here, is familiarly known to those who keep a record of musical affairs, for he has been for years a prominent figure in the world of concert and oratorio in the east. He is probably the most popular and successful of all American concert artists.

Seats for the Werrenrath recital will be put on sale Wednesday morning at the Cable Piano company store. Mail orders should be addressed to the Cable Piano company. The recital will be the fourth of the All-Star concert series.

Still Raided; Two Jailed.

One hundred gallons of beer and two gallons of corn "brew" were poured out Sunday by Lieutenant Carroll and county policemen when a 40-gallon capacity car had been in actual operation, was raided near Utoy creek, just west of the A. B. & A. railroad. Two men, W. R. Astin and Calvin Astin, the latter of Cedartown, were arrested and are believed to have been owners of the distillery.

JUDGE W. I. GRUBB ASSIGNED TO HELP JUDGE SAM SIBLEY

To relieve congestion of the dockets of the federal court for the northern district of Georgia, Judge W. I. Grubb, United States judge at Birmingham for the northern district of Alabama, has been designated to assist Judge Samuel H. Sibley for a period of three months, beginning January 16, 1922.

Judge Grubb has presided in the Atlanta federal court on previous occasions. Last year he conducted an emergency session in the criminal division.

According to C. W. Hager, district attorney, the civil division and criminal division of court will be conducted simultaneously during the stay of the visiting judge.

A rigid enforcement of the federal prohibition act and the Harrison narcotic act has crowded the criminal division of federal court to a greater degree than at any time in its history. In the civil division a large number of land condemnation proceedings brought by the government against land in the national forest have been pending for some time.

Two patrolmen were injured early Monday morning on Lee street, near Campbellton road, when an automobile crashed into the car in which they were doing patrol duty, was reported to be much improved Monday night. Betsell was painfully injured and was detained at Grady hospital for treatment, but Hughes' condition was not thought serious, and he was allowed to return home.

Mr. Kelley, said by the two officers to have been the driver of the car which ran into the city machine, was arrested. Charges of reckless driving and of driving an automobile while in an intoxicated condition were made against him, and he was held for state courts by Recorder Johnson under $1,200 bond.

The officers claimed that Kelly was driving toward West End on Lee street in a heavy truck, and that instead of keeping to the right of the road as their car passed, he swerved to the left and directly in front of the city machine.

Police Seek Negro Slayer.

Bennie Smith, a negro, who lived at 72 Humphries street, died on his way to Grady hospital Monday night, after being shot twice through the chest, police charged by I. F. Terrell, a negro, living at 375-A Dawson street. Terrell is sought by the police.

The shooting occurred at 123 1/2 McDaniel street. The residence of Jessie Smith, a negro woman. The woman stated that an altercation between the two men arose, culminating in the shooting.

ENGINEERS NAMED FOR BIG VIADUCT

proposed by the bond commission and city council.

Sixty Days to Draw Plans.

A contract will begin as early as possible. It was stated that probably 60 days would be required for the company to draw detailed working plans. There are negotiations to be made with the railroad and the bond commission will be ready to advertise for bids.

There were ten applications on file with the commission for the viaduct job.

The proposition of Harrington, Howard & Ash submitted to the bridge committee and accepted by that body, with the exception of the 5 per cent stipulation, is as follows:

Offer of Engineers.

We will make the surveys required to locate property lines, street lines, building and railway tracks, to determine the elevation of all points having relation to the work, and to determine the section and construction of all buildings, which must be altered to permit the construction of the viaduct.

We will collect and consider all outstanding agreements between the railroad companies and the city or the state, in so far as they affect the solution of the problems involved by the viaduct.

We will prepare thorough studies for the location and construction of the viaduct and its approaches, for the possible alterations of Bartow street and of other avenues to afford access to the viaduct, freight houses and yards; and we will prepare estimates of the cost of these alterations and of the alterations of buildings as a basis for the solution of the general problem of location and design.

We will conduct or aid the appropriate city authorities in the negotiations with the railroad and the bond commission, to secure the conditions most advantageous to the city for the location of the viaduct, and its approaches and supports, while providing the best possible means of access to the freight houses, team tracks and other properties.

When these matters are settled and location and general plans are agreed upon, we will prepare complete detail plans, specifications, construction contract, survey bond, advertisements and invitations to bid, and we will attend the lettings and assist in placing the work under contract, survey bond, and magnitude, who will be in charge of construction from its beginning to its completion, and we will furnish such assistance as he may need to make the survey to locate all parts of the work to be placed at the site all cement, stone, sand, paving and other materials, and to supervise construction of all work.

Make Weekly Reports.

We will make a weekly report of progress during construction, and we will prepare the monthly estimates of materials furnished and work done which constitute the basis of payment to the contractor.

Upon completion of the viaduct we will prepare a final report, accompanied by a complete set of prints, on cloth, and a copy of all estimates and inspection reports, for the city's permanent records.

The subscriber will give the work of the thorough attention essential to its successful planning, and with the aid of the appropriate city authorities, will conduct the negotiations with the railroad and property owners and the railroad, will visit the work at frequent intervals whenever matters of importance require attention, and will keep close supervision over it at all times.

The work will be carried out in close cooperation with and under the general supervision of the city's chief of construction and engineer of bridges. We will initiate the work promptly and carry it out with vigor, thoroughness and dispatch. For the complete service described above we ask a fee of 5 per cent of the total cost of all construction involved in the improvement, payable as follows:

One per cent when the work covered by items 1 to 4 inclusive is completed.

Two per cent when construction contracts are let, or within 60 days after the completion of the detail plans and specifications.

One and one-half per cent on monthly payments proportionate to the monthly estimates which constitute the basis of payment to the contractor. One-half per cent when the final report is made upon completion of the work.

The construction contract will provide that the city shall withhold from payments due the contractor and pay to use the actual cost to us of supervising construction after the date fixed in the contract for completion of the work. This is a reasonable and equitable provision which we ask that the city carry out.

We shall give to the work our best effort to get the preliminary matters settled, and to complete the work as early as possible. We hope, therefore, to have your approval of this proposal at your early convenience.

When these matters are settled and location and general plans are agreed upon, we will prepare complete detail plans, specifications, construction contract, survey bond, advertisements and invitations to bid, and we will attend the lettings and assist in placing the work under contract, survey bond, and magnitude, who will be in charge of construction from its beginning to its completion, and we will furnish such assistance as he may need to make the survey to locate all parts of the work to be placed at the site all cement, stone, sand, paving and other materials, and to supervise construction of all work.

HOW TO REVIVE THE ORIGINAL LUSTROUS TEXTURE OF THE COMPLEXION

EVERY woman owes it to herself to look her best at all times and there is nothing more beautiful than a clean, clear, well-cared-for complexion, but to have this, the skin requires constant care and attention. All day long dust and dirt are grinding and lodging into the pores of the skin, blackheads are accumulating, wrinkles developing and wind or sun roughening and reddening, and in the proper treatment of the skin, one must necessarily follow two well established rules.

First: the skin, to be kept clear, fresh and healthy and free from wrinkles, must have a frequent application, by a brisk massage, of a soft, pure old cream with oil base. This is done at night, before retiring. Second: before applying powder, in order to produce a soft, smooth, velvety effect, the skin must have an application of grainless (vanishing) cream that will keep it from becoming red, rough or shiny.

The most perfect and complete combination for this beauty treatment will be found in Isis Perfect Cold Cream for No. 1 and Isis Vanishing (Peroxide) Cream for No. 2. There is no complexion that cannot be improved by the proper use of these two creams, and if you would know what it is to have a most exquisite complexion, get a jar of each. Isis Cold and Isis Vanishing (Peroxide) Cream, and begin tonight. Isis Creams are fully warranted, you will find them delightful to use and your dealer can supply you. The price is 35 cents. —(adv.)

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugstore, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time. It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs, loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Birthday of "Uncle Remus" Honored at Woman's Club

"Uncle Remus has made Atlanta better known than all our humming factories or great baking corporations," said Dr. Ashby Jones, pastor of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church, who paid beautiful tribute to Joel Chandler Harris, known and loved as "Uncle Remus," when he spoke at the club members. While Monday was not the birthday of the popular author, following its usual custom, the Atlanta Woman's club holds appropriate exercises on the regular meeting date nearest the 9th of December, the anniversary date.

Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, life president of the Atlanta Woman's club, presided, and chairman of the Uncle Remus birthday celebration for the Atlanta Woman's club, presided, and introduced the progress of the Uncle Remus association has made in creating interest in the works of Uncle Remus and in holding exercises commemorating his anniversary.

Dr. Ashby Jones, pastor of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church, who paid beautiful tribute to Joel Chandler Harris and his imitators, said that the life of the author, who spoke of his spiritual imagination that gave magic and charm to all he wrote—that spirit that has gone into hundreds of thousands of people and permeated with its beauty the life of nations. "Think of creating Uncle Remus," said Dr. Jones, "the character that talks at twilight time to the thousands and thousands of children. With the magic of an artist we see not only Uncle Remus, but a little boy. We see with Uncle Remus and the little boy, the whole background of southern civilization of the period."

Girls' High School
Pantomime Proves
Treat to Audience

The just witch, the naughty little princess, and a corps of despatch dancers, held a large audience deeply interested in the Girls' High school pantomime Monday afternoon. It was the first dramatic club's pantomime and was a success in every way, although only three rehearsals had been held.

Ruth Adamson, the little princess, was so naughtily that Margaret Baylis, witch, laid a curse on her and she was doomed never to smile until she had done a good deed. For months and months the little princess appeared in sorrowful mood at the dances and frolics and her playmates never could get her to smile.

They seemed to know of the curse and endeavored to get the little princess to do a good deed so that she would join the rest of the world in smiling. But she remained defiant—until one day, Carrie Thompson, a poor little girl, dropped and broke her doll, whereupon the little princess replaced the broken one with her own. The poor little girl dried her eyes and smiled and the little princess joined in and the play ended, and left the audience wishing for more.

The next dramatic production at Girls' High school, Christmas, will be given by members of the senior class on Friday, December 23.

OPERETTA WILL RECALL LANDING OF THE PILGRIMS

The landing of the Pilgrims on the shores of New England will be recalled by a short dramatic production, "On Plymouth Rock," to be given on Wednesday evening by more than one hundred and seventy-five pupils of the Washington academy. Those taking part come from the senior class down through the grades including the first.

There are beautiful choruses and dances by Indian youths and maidens, by parrot boys and girls, hunting club cruises and more stately ones by the elders.

The solo parts will be taken by Miss Virginia Surtees, Miss Mildred Davis, Miss Margaret Maffangale, Miss Dorothy Duell and Miss Helen England.

LAST TRIBUTES PAID TO CHARLES HOPKINS

Funeral services for Charles T. Hopkins, aged 59, widely-known attorney of Atlanta, were conducted at the residence, 1085 Ponce de Leon avenue, at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, by Rev. C. B. Wilmer and Bishop Warren A. Candier. Interment followed in Decatur cemetery, with Barclay and Brandon in charge. Mr. Hopkins died Saturday at the residence, following an illness of less than a week.

Mr. Hopkins is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Elizabeth H. Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brown Morgan, of LaGrange; three sons, Charles T. Hopkins, Jr., John L. Hopkins and Alex. Hopkins; a daughter, Miss Nancy Hill Hopkins, a brother, Linton C. Hopkins, also a well-known lawyer, and two sisters, Mrs. Harry H. Howell and Miss Charlotte Hopkins.

Acting as pallbearers were John S. Cohen, Clark Howell, Judge John T. Pendleton, Preston Arkwright, Jack L. Spaulding, Thomas K. Glenn, Edward C. Peters, J. Carroll Payne, Logan Blackley, L. Z. Rosser and Reuben Arnold.

At the time of his death, Mr. Hopkins was practicing law with his son, as senior member of the firm of C. T. and John L. Hopkins. He was admitted to the bar in 1882 and for years practiced law with his father, the late Judge John L. Hopkins.

Mr. Hopkins had been identified with some of the most important civil cases ever tried in Georgia. He frequently appeared before the railroad commission for the Georgia Railway and Power company, and was general attorney for the Atlantic Steel company.

CHAMBER PLANS FIGHT TO RETAIN FRUIT EXCHANGE

The committee of the chamber of commerce appointed to fight the proposed removal of the headquarters of the Georgia Fruit Growers' exchange from Atlanta to Macon, will meet Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock in the Chamber building to devise plans. It was appointed by President Lee Ashcraft, and is composed of Robert M. Maddox, chairman; John McCullough, H. O. Rogers, H. C. Bagley and R. B. Pegram.

President Ashcraft stated Monday that "the chamber of commerce of Macon is making an effort to take the headquarters of the Georgia Fruit Growers' exchange from us, on the plea that Macon is nearer the peach belt. The headquarters, however, have been here in Atlanta since the formation of the exchange in 1900 and the exchange has prospered here."

"The reason offered by Macon is no reason at all, as Atlanta is the base of distribution for the state. Peaches are grown all over Georgia and the roads into Atlanta assure the growers of distribution that Macon could not offer."

These articles may be seen at the home of Robert E. Sharp, apartment 2, 107 1-2 Whitehall street, in whose family they are heirlooms.

Suit Is Filed Against Widow Of Rosborough

Augusta, Ga., December 12.—(Special.)—Suit has been filed at the office of the clerk of the superior court by T. R. Bennett, superintendent of the banking department of the state of Georgia, for the Merchants bank against Mrs. Rebecca C. Rosborough, widow of the late Eugene E. Rosborough, defaulting cashier of the bank, who committed suicide a few weeks ago, after leaving notes admitting default of $167,000 from the Merchants bank.

The petition sues Mrs. Rosborough individually and as temporary administratrix of the estate of E. E. Rosborough, and also all insurance companies in which Rosborough was insured.

The petitioner shows that there are outstanding policies amounting to $25,000 payable to the Augusta Motor Sales company, which was owned almost entirely by Rosborough, and that they have been paid. Also that there are $17,000 in policies payable to the estate of Rosborough. Further that the $75,000 was made out to Rebecca C. Rosborough, wife of the assured, with the right of the assured reserved to at any time change the beneficiary without the consent of the beneficiary. And further that Rosborough was insolvent at the time of his death, and had been for many years before.

The petitioner charges that by reason of Rosborough having the absolute right reserved to change the beneficiary in the policies payable to his wife and the right to cash them or sell them as he could any other property owned by him, that these policies and the insurance thereunder go to his estate for the benefit of his creditors, and that such insurance should be so applied.

The petitioner further charges that Rosborough wrote two letters to his wife on October 26, the day before he committed suicide, and knowing that he was insolvent, requested that one of his insurance money be paid to A. S. Hatch, $25,000, to the Merchants bank half of the debt of the American Ice Cream company, for which his brother-in-law, W. Inman Curry, was responsible; for his wife to retain $25,000 and to turn over the balance to the directors of the Merchants bank to help pay the depositors of the bank.

It is charged that the letter constituted an assignment of such insurance for the above purposes or a change of beneficiary as named in the policy trust for the named beneficiaries, and that the money from the insurance should be so applied.

The petition further charges that the insurance premiums were paid with money taken from the Merchants bank, and that therefore the policies and the insurance money belong to the bank or at least such portion as the money taken and paid.

Restraining Order. Further, it was charged that Mrs. Rebecca C. Rosborough is applying for permanent papers of administration upon the estate of her late husband, and that by reason of the sharp issue between herself individually and the estate, some person representing the creditors should have charge of the estate.

The petitioner prayed that Mrs. Rosborough be restrained from collecting insurance and the insurance companies be restrained from paying the money due on the policies; also that Mrs. Rosborough should be restrained from applying for permanent papers of administration, and that receivers should be appointed to collect all insurance and pay it out to those entitled. The order was granted by Judge Hammond and the hearing set for December 31.

Newton Stopped in First Round; Murphy's Right Hand Turns Trick

Ohio Battler Starts Carrying Fight to Charleston Wizard and Is Finished Abruptly.

BY FUZZY WOODRUFF.

Johnny Newton was literally knocked kicking by Frankie Murphy in the first round of their scheduled ten-round engagement at Walk Miller's club last night. A terrible right hand punch in the heart section brought to an abrupt close what looked for a minute to be the best battle in which Murphy has ever engaged in Atlanta, and for a few minutes it seemed that the close would be something more sinister than abrupt. The patrons heaved a vast sigh of relief when Newton was last able to be lifted to his feet and carried wobbly to his corner.

The Ohio battler is evidently no respecter of person the most successful warrior, with tin ears and a trademark nose and he possesses knowledge of fighting. From the top of the first round he sailed into the Charleston wizard with the same reckless abandon that he would have used against a ham and beaver. The stuff was a couple of sound cuffs particularly with his left hand, and a tremor went over the audience. "Here's a fight for the ages," they murmured. But in a second or two Murphy had perfected an offense to nullify Newton's rush and duck. His left began to find Newton's face.

DRAUGHON 'V' STARTS WORK

BY FRED HANEY.

The Draughon's Business College girls' basketball team has been hard at work for the past several days at the Y. W. C. A., practicing for the coming season under the direction of Coach Joe Bean. The Draughon team last year lost only one game during the entire season and that was to the Atlanta Y. W. C. A. Three of the big stars from last year's team are back for the coming season and the girls expect to have one of the most successful seasons in the history of the school. Miss Doris Walker has been elected manager of the team for the coming season, while Miss Frances Phillips is to act in the role of captain. The three members that are back from last year's team are Miss Phillips, Miss Edith Wilson, and Miss Cole. Miss Phillips and Miss Walker were with the championship teams of Fulton High a few years ago.

Many Candidates. A large number of candidates have been working out with the team since practice began and it was hard for Coach Bean to pick his three substitutes but it is almost a certainty that Miss Edith Wilson, Miss Frances Phillips, and Miss Theodora Anderson will be the substitute members of the five. The former will substitute as a guard, the latter a center, while Miss Cole will play forward.

Miss Phillips will hold down her old position of forward for the year. Miss Wilson will play center and Miss Cole will play guard. This combination should make one of the best teams in the city.

Fairburn High school has been selected as the first opponent for the business girls. The game is to be played Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the Marietta college court and should prove a thriller. Fairburn High has been practicing for a much longer time than the Draughon team and should put up a hard scrap. From reports coming from Fairburn, it seems that they have a very good team this season.

LETTERS PRESENTED BY TENNESSEE TEAM

Cookeville, Tenn., December 12.—A brilliant affair was the banquet given Saturday evening at the Duke house by the faculty of Tennessee Polytechnic in honor of the football team. Covers were laid for fifty-seven and a five-course menu was served. Tech pennants, favor caps of purple and gold, a huge football in the center of the speakers' table and violets carried out the college scheme of decoration.

Professor T. L. Parsons was master of ceremonies and presented the following speakers: Coach Clardy, Captain Silas Anderson, Treasurer Irwin, Harry Jenkins, manager of the boys' basketball team; Miss Dollie Smith, manager of the girls' basketball team, and Dr. W. A. Howard and Benton Ogden, of the athletic club.

Letters were presented by President Smith to sixteen of the boys as follows: Sam Rickman, Keith Bohach, Silas Anderson, Claude Caruth, James Miller, Claude Jackson, Dixie Bond, J. Chapman, Dewitt Puckett, Levi Cooper, Waldo Bryant, Joe McCormick, Joe P. Wood, E. Lafavers, Hunter Hill and Emmett Smart.

Sam Rickman, of Hartsville, was elected captain for next year.

VANDY PLAYS TOMORROW

BY BLINKEY HORN.

Nashville, Tenn., December 12.—(Special.)—Bright where they left off on Tuesday day those Commodore will resume, sportively speaking, on Wednesday night. That's the date of the cage duel between Wallace Wade's Black and Gold five and the quint from S. P. U. It's the initial fray of the Commodores.

The opening battle will be watched by local basketball followers. It may not provide an accurate estimate of the actual strength of the new Commodore basket tossing outfit, but it should serve to indicate what progress has been made with the new system. It's a pity that the bout ended thus abruptly. It had the earmarks of being able to save an unfortunate show.

There was no semi-windup between Rabbit Palmer and Eddie Grant, the new star of the Commodore. That Rabbit isn't as good with a billiard cue as he is with a boxing glove. Before the glove fight he got into an altercation in a pool parlor and evidently came out second best. He showed up at ringside with one of the best decorated heads seen since policeman Spid's night of winning.

None of the other aspiring young pugilists hereabouts cared for Grant's game. In the preliminaries Battling Benson and Edith Carey fought a very tame draw of six rounds.

Frankie Smith, the southpaw, had Al Norton, a Tech student, in a bad way in the second round of their bout, and the referee mercifully stopped the slaughter.

In the third round of the combat between Frankie Conway and Spider Webb, the web was a good loser and a second thought he'd better call it a day by chucking in a towel. Spider disagreed, but the second won. It wasn't Spider's night for winning either a fight or an argument.

Twenty men have been out for practice and some of the vets are finding the competition from newcomers uncomfortably warm. Slim Embury is looming up as a robust candidate for the center role, a berth upon which the Commodore lobby Monday while the International league and the service team were gathering to vote down the convention of the American Legion in 1922. Judge Foster points to the fact that about 150,000 people are expected here for the convention and as most are ex-service men, a game with one of the service teams would naturally be of great interest.

The letter of invitation follows: "Hon. John W. Weeks, Secretary of War, Washington, D. C.—Dear Sir: The American Legion will hold its annual convention in New Orleans in 1922, probably during the last week of October. It has occurred to the Commodore Athletic Club that an interesting feature might be provided by a football game between either the Army or Navy team and Tulane. Negotiations to that end have been started. Tulane Athletic Club, New Orleans and West Point. Tulane has sufficient standing to make the contest desirable from an athletic viewpoint.

New Orleans, no doubt, will live up to her reputation as a hostess in entertaining the legion. The legion expects an attendance of about 150,000. All these people, naturally, will be interested in football and very few of them have ever had the opportunity of seeing either the Army or Navy team play.

It is, of course, that it is unusual for either team to take so long a trip. However, it would be a graceful compliment to the city and the legion if a game could be arranged for this special occasion. I trust it is an easy decision, and asking you to do what you consistently can to further the project. I am writing a similar letter to the secretary of the navy.

DEFICIENCY BILL PASSED IN SENATE

TOTALS $106,600,000

MILITARY WAR ORDER TO HAVE CHAPTER HERE

At a meeting Thursday evening, members of the American Officers of the Great War" heard an address by Captain Sherman Ewing, recorder general of the "Military Order of the World" and a member of the organization, and decided to reorganize the Atlanta chapter. The following officers were elected to serve until the reorganization is perfected: J. H. Parker, temporary vice commander; Dr. Cecil Stockard, temporary adjutant.

It is planned to hold another meeting shortly after the holidays, which all who are eligible are urged to attend. At this time it is hoped the organization can be completed and permanent officers elected.

POLICE ARE SEARCHING FOR TWO HOLDUP MEN

Police were searching Monday for two negroes who held up Jim Simmon, a merchant of 96 Mills street, Monday morning and secured about $80 in cash. Detectives McDaniel and Woodson were assigned to the case. Simmon reported that two negroes entered his store and asked for some cigarettes. When he reached for them a tall negro grabbed him, and his companion snatched the victim's pockets and secured $80 in money.

FERTILIZER LEADERS TO MEET IN ATLANTA

Huggins Unable to Get Players; Declines Draft

Dunn Offers Players to McGraw, But Wants Giants' Whole Team in Return.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER, United News Staff Correspondent.

New York, December 12.—The baseball trader's crinkly green banner featuring the dollar-mark, is flapping from the shoulders of the Waldorf, animated by swift gusts of hot air from the mid-winter auction of organized baseball in Peacock alley far below. Any minor league able to hit a kite balloon with a bundle of buggy-whips, any bush pitcher who can get a ball from the box to the plate, even if he has to carry it half way, is in danger of being sold up the river from the local spots to the big leagues.

Because practically every club owner on the two big circuits is nursing a wild desire for hitters and pitchers for the season of 1922, and the auction gets under way Tuesday to continue until Friday, when the joint conference of the National and American leagues will be held under the gavel of Judge Landis.

Huggins' Wheelbarrow. Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, is a wheelbarrow in the Commodore lobby Monday while the International league and the service team were gathering to vote down the convention of the American Legion in 1922. Judge Foster points to the fact that about 150,000 people are expected here for the convention and as most are ex-service men, a game with one of the service teams would naturally be of great interest.

N. O. IS AFTER SERVICE GAME

New Orleans, December 12.—(Special.)—J. L. Holland, Jr., president of the Tulane athletic council, has written a letter to the secretary of war, inviting either the Army or Navy football team to come here to play Tulane during the annual convention of the American Legion in 1922. Judge Foster points to the fact that about 150,000 people are expected here for the convention and as most are ex-service men, a game with one of the service teams would naturally be of great interest.

RED ROBERTS CENTRE CHIEF

Danville, Ky., December 12.—(Special.)—"Red" Roberts, veteran end of the Centre college football team, was chosen to lead the Colonels of 1922 at the annual banquet given by the chamber of commerce in honor of the Centre eleven. Roberts' election came as no surprise, as his gridiron achievements during the past season have been one of the features of the play of the Colonels.

"Red" has performed brilliantly in practically every contest on the 1921 schedule. His work has fully equalled that of the redoubtable McMillin and in many instances he has figured more sensationally than his illustrious comrade. Roberts' record for the past season has been one of the best in the history of the team, and it is believed that he will attain this honor when Walter Camp announces his all-American eleven.

H. C. MURNAN DOCKETED FOR MAKING RACE BET

Mobile, Ala., December 12.—H. C. Murnan, president of the Business Men's Racing association, was docketed yesterday on a charge of making a bet on a horse race, with the view of testing the Alabama law of 1919 that prohibits the making of a wager on any kind of contest in this state.

The case will be called in the inferior criminal court on Wednesday before Judge N. B. Clarke, and will probably be heard on Thursday. Murnan contends that the law is unconstitutional and has employed one of the leading attorneys of the state to fight his case.

ENTRIES FOR S. S. A. SWIM MEET CLOSE WED.

Entries for the Sunday School Athletic association swimming meets, the preliminaries of which will be held Friday and Saturday of this week, close Wednesday night at 6 o'clock at the Central "Y."

The winners in preliminary events will qualify for the finals, which will be held Monday night, December 19, at 8 o'clock in the Central "Y" pool. Interest is very keen and some very good records will undoubtedly be made both in the preliminaries and the finals. Chairman H. C. Smith, of the swimming committee, anticipates a large entry list.

A. A. C. PLAYS B. A. C. CAGERS

Birmingham, Ala., December 12.—(Special.)—Prince Basketball is waiting outside of the throne room, anxious for the ceremonies that will soon proclaim him king of the winter sports in Birmingham. The old cage season will be flung open at the Birmingham Athletic club December 23, with Baylor university the guests.

Manager Clarence McEachin announced Saturday one of the hardest basketball schedules the Blue and White has attempted in the past five years. The dates for the state high school tourney, also, is being called to the attention of the high school fires throughout the state. This tournament will open February 23.

Coach Ervin has had his men down to hard work for the past two weeks, conditioning them for what the B. A. C. people believe will be a successful season. A number of new men are out for the team and with Coach Ervin now able to give more time to the basketball candidates with the road race out of the way, things will start looking bright in the gym nightly.

Games are pending with Vanderbilt, Memphis Y. M. C. A., Knoxville A. C., Tulane and Howard. The four road trips that the B. A. C. floorwalkers will take already have been booked, the games being with Atlanta A. C. in Atlanta, Alabama in Tuscaloosa and Auburn in Auburn and the Southeastern A. A. U. tourney in Atlanta.

The schedule follows: December 23—Baylor university. December 30 or 31—Mississippi A. & M. January 10—Camp Benning. January 13—Georgia Tech. January 18—Tennessee. January 21—Atlanta A. C. in Atlanta. January 28—Alabama at Tuscaloosa. February 4 or 7—Auburn. February 7 or 11—Atlanta. February 10—Auburn in Auburn.

HOLLAND IS RICKARD IN CHARGE AGAIN

New York, December 12.—For the time being Tex Rickard has regained control of the affairs of his famous fight club de luxe at Madison Square garden, for which receivers were appointed last week on the representation of Frank J. Armstrong that he was entitled to an interest in the proceeds.

Justice Charles Guy, in the New York supreme court, sustained Monday a petition of Rickard for a temporary injunction, restraining the receivers, one of whom is John Ringling, his acknowledged business associate, from functioning as such. The next move probably will be an appeal to the appellate division by Armstrong, wherein he will attempt to show cause why Rickard's injunction should be dissolved.

WILSON IS ELECTED TO CAPTAIN ILLINOIS

Urbana, Ill., December 12.—David D. Wilson, of Beard, Kans., left camp was elected captain of the University of Illinois football team for 1922 last Monday.

He replaces Don Peden, captain-elect, who recently was declared ineligible under the three-year playing limit rule in the western conference. Peden played one year at Lombard college and two at Illinois. The faculty committee ruled that Lombard was not an accredited institution, thereby barring Peden from further big ten competition.

BERT HODGE TO COACH CUMBERLAND QUINTET

Lebanon, Tenn., December 12.—(Special.)—Bert Hodge has been secured as coach at Cumberland university for basketball and baseball. Hodge's duties are to begin at once and he is already on the field and has taken charge of the basketball team.

Hodge is well known in this section and, by reputation, throughout the south. He coached the famous U. T. doctor's football team last fall. He is a brother of the popular Shore Hodge, one time idol of the Nashville fans and mainstay of the Vols' pitching staff, now with the Chicago White Sox. Bert bids fair to occupy as high a place in college athletics as his elongated brother does in professional circles. His team last fall did not lose a game, was only scored on twice and scored 195 points to their opponents' 12.

LITTLETON IS MISS. AGGIES KNOCKED OUT ENTER RACES

New Orleans, December 12.—Bryan Downer, of Cleveland, Ohio, tonight stopped Happy Littleton, of New Orleans, in the fifth round of a scheduled 15-round bout. The men are middleweights. Downer weighed 157 3/4 pounds and Littleton 160 1/2.

Downer, claimant of the middleweight championship of the world, knocked out Littleton with a terrific right-hand crash which was a cross between a swing and an uppercut. It landed flush on Littleton's chin and he fell backward to the canvas in a heap. As the count of ten was droned off by Referee Remy Dorr, Littleton did not stir on the floor, remaining unconscious for full five minutes after the count while restoratives were being applied.

Littleton entered the ring a 7 to 5 betting favorite over the visitor and the elimination of the bout was a big disappointment to local fans, who believed the local man was of championship caliber. It was the first knockout Littleton had suffered in his career. The bout drew approximately $14,000.

Littleton's manager, Coach Poche, of the Young Men's Gymnastic club, Coach C. C. Hard, of the Y. M. C. A., has promised to qualify his team before the date of the closing of entries. This will make it a four-club affair and the winning team will have something to boast about.

One of the best trophies ever offered for a race of this kind has been promised by Secretary Benedetto and besides the team trophy there will be a gold medal for first, two silver medals and two bronze medals for second, third, fourth and fifth places respectively.

Here is how the three teams will line up on December 17: Tulane University—Hawkins, Leeper, McVey, Lind, Peret, Garyson, Bevins, Glass, Gurnall and Frue. Y. M. C. A.—Spencer, Brodeur, Wade, Manson, Jacobs, Weiss, McKinney and Nugent.

Mississippi A. & M. College—S. Robinson, captain; W. O. Spencer, C. S. Cochran, R. D. Morrow, J. L. Murff, E. H. Cato.

General Pershing receives a yearly salary of $12,500 and allowances. The allowances for quarters is $5,000, heat and light $1,500 and other items of expense incident to his position are added.

Hall Virginia Pilot.

Charlottesville, Va., December 12. Thomas S. Hall, of Loudham, Md., star of Virginia's football team tonight was elected captain of the team's eleven. Hall has been a mainstay of the Orange and Blue for the past two years. He is in his third year at the university.

Cords That Sell Lower Than Fabrics

It's true that a Mason 32" x 4" Cord has the same air capacity as a 33" x 4 1/2" fabric. Because of this, scores of car owners are now substituting their antiquated fabrics with Mason Cords.

And at prices that are actually lower!

This economy holds true of all sizes of Mason Cords. So why use fabrics when you can buy Mason Cords—long lived, resilient, dependable—at these remarkable prices.
